Cowboy turnovers open door to bi-district loss

The Groom Tigers had been playing out of their league almost all season when they took on the Happy Cowboys Friday night at Groom.

Six early season games against class A and AA schools toughened the Class B Tigers who won the bi-district championship by defeating Happy 28-7.

The 4th ranked Cowboys fell to the awesome offense of two brothers and a pair of their cousins and a defense that could teach the pros something about pursuit.

For the Tigers, it had been a long wait. They've won 19 of the last 25 district championships and this is the first year Class B competitors have had a state championship to fight for.

For the Cowboys, it was a bitter pill in what had been a sweet season. They had fallen last week to a weaker Meadow team, but Coach Robert Criswell had racked that loss up to the fact that Happy had already won the district crown and Meadow was just a bump on the road to the bi-district game.

The Tigers boasted a poor, but not altogether revealing, season record going into Friday night's outing. They had lost six games — all of them to class A or AA schools before winning all three of their Class B district games at the close of the season.

Groom advances to the regional finals next weekend at an undetermined location.

The opening kick-off Friday night was hardly a preview of things to come as the Cowboys' Chris Pearson took the kick at his own 25 and sprinted downfield 75 yards to score.

But, things took an immediate reversal on the next series of downs when the Cowboys found out the Tigers meant business.

Two cousins, Tim and Greg Britten, working out of the backfield, blasted holes in the previously impermeable Happy line.

On the second down from scrimmage in the game Tim Britten raced 35 yards over his right tackle and seemed headed for paydirt before he was stopped cold by Teddy Offield.

In six more plays, the Tigers had driven to the Happy four-yard line but failed to sustain the drive as the Cowboy line held.

The Cowboys took over but couldn't make the first down. That was the Happy story all night.

Late in the first quarter, the Tigers took over after a Cowboy punt on the Happy 34 yard line. A 15-yard run by Tim Britten placed the ball on the Cowboy 12 and four plays later the 155-pound sophomore halfback chugged through a big hole in the right side of the line for a yard and paydirt.

A pass from quarterback Jim West to Tony Treadwell made it 8-7 in Groom's favor with 27 seconds left in the period.

Then, midway in the second

Teacher program objections will continue across state

The last has not been heard in objection to the recently legislated competency-based teacher education system which is due implementation in Texas universities by 1977.

That was the word at week's end from a West Texas State University American Association of University Professors source.

About 20 professors challenged the new state-wide system last week during a meeting of the local AAUP chapter on the WTSU campus, charging the program constitutes an infringement on academic freedom for professors.

The WTSU source said Friday that WTSU professors, primarily it seems in the Arts and Sciences, are not alone in their view that the competency-based teacher education program, passed into law for Texans last spring, could affect classroom freedom.

"Others are concerned about this as well," the source said. "We have heard from other schools where there has been an effort to challenge it."

The source said local AAUP members have not consented to take any active action to challenge the program, but he said several avenues are open to anyone who wants to actively challenge the system.

"There are basically two approaches," he said. "One is through the courts in an open court case. The second is through the legislature where you'd go back and try to get them to modify it."

Local AAUP members listened last week to a recounting of the history of the competency-based teacher education program by Dr. Emmitt Smith, long-time proponent of the system, during an hour and a half session.

Dr. Smith said one concept involved in the competency-based system is that of switching the emphasis for teacher education from the university to a regional education center. The regional education center in this area is already established and consists of WTSU faculty members, representatives of the school districts of Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford and the education service center, PESO.

Former CHS student charged in bomb threat occurrence

Lynda Zoe Bergstresser, 19, of 807 19th St., Canyon, is free on $2,000 bond set on a felony charge of making a false report of a bomb over the telephone.

Mrs. Bergstresser, a former Canyon High School student, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by city police as a result of their investigation into a bomb threat which caused classes at the high school to be disrupted Tuesday morning.

Canyon police chief Al Stewart said the arrest was made after officers took statements from two students who had apparently been involved in a planned boycott that failed to materialize earlier that morning.

Mrs. Bergstresser was charged and then arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. W. Hancock after she issued a written statement to Canyon police.

The incident began about 9:50 a.m. Tuesday when a school secretary received a telephone call from someone who said a bomb had been planted in the school. The device was set to explode at 10:15 a.m., the secretary quoted the caller as saying.

The secretary, who described the voice as that of a man, reported the call to principal John Sommer who then called police.

After the gym and Commons area were checked out and determined safe, the student body and faculty were evacuated to that location while officers searched the school building.

When the suspected time passed with no explosion, the students were returned to their classes.

"We felt that there was no bomb," said Stewart, "but we couldn't take any chances."

The possibility of a student walkout at the school was brought to light Monday morning when leaflets asking for boycott support were placed on cars parked in the school parking lot.

Chief Stewart, who said he had begun the investigation with the idea that the caller had been a boy or man, told The News that a woman or girl could have made the call if she lowered her voice and used a cloth or other device over the telephone mouthpiece.

The suspect knew the details of

Maroon madness begins Saturday

West Texas State's Maroon Madness basketball team opens its regular season Saturday in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum against the University of Corpus Christi.

The Buffaloes of coach Dennis Walling played the Chilean National team in an exhibition battle Saturday night in the Civic Center.

The game with Corpus will be the first of five consecutive home contests for the Buffaloes. They play Southern Mississippi Dec. 4, Trinity Dec. 7, University of Texas at Arlington Dec. 9 and Northeast Louisiana Dec. 12.

Following the home stand, the Buffaloes will travel to the east coast to play St. Peters Dec. 14 and on Dec. 16 face Long Island University in New York's Madison Square Garden.

After the trip to New York, the Buffaloes take a break until Jan. 3 when they travel to San Antonio to face Trinity and then play in Houston's Bluebonnet Bowl Classic.

This is the first year for the Buffalo cagers to compete for the Missouri Valley Conference championship and they open Valley play in Amarillo Jan. 11 against Bradley.

Other MVC games in Amarillo are against Drake, Tulsa, North Texas, New Mexico State, Wichita State and Louisville.

Senior guard Mike Rodriguez was slowed during practice this past week with an ankle injury. He missed the Thursday night scrimmage session in the Civic Center. The playmaker from San Gabriel, Calif., is expected to be ready for Saturday's game with Corpus Christi.

Other probable starters are Tommy Jordan, Brent Lake,

Majority of area taxes pour into waiting coffers

The tax money is flowing into city, county and school district coffers.

Tax assessor-collectors for each of the governmental units said last week more than 70 per cent of the taxes owed by property owners in Randall County have been paid since Oct. 1.

Tax statements were mailed by the taxing agencies earlier this fall before October.

Residents who paid their various taxes during October received a 3 per cent discount from the school district and county. Likewise, residents who paid taxes in November received a 2 per cent discount. If residents wait until December to pay, they will receive a 1 per cent discount.

Tax officials attribute the early high percentage of taxes paid to the discounts offered.

"It's coming in real good," said Conway Kuykendall, school and city tax assessor-collector. "Just about better than it ever has."

Kuykendall said 71.4 per cent of the school district's taxes have been collected so far. The school's tax roll is $1,072,463 and $765,974 has been collected.

"I'm just guessing but I'd say we were under 70 per cent this time last year," Kuykendall said.

He noted that the bulk of that 70 per cent was collected during October.

"Not very many people take advantage of the 2 and 1 per cent discounts," he said.

Kuykendall said about 72.7 per cent of the city's taxes have been collected, most of that in October, too. The city tax roll totals $300,741 and $218,596 has been collected.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector for the county, said totals for October indicate 73 per cent of the county's taxes were collected during that month alone.

Total tax roll for the county is $647,678.

The county tax office also collects taxes for several other taxing entitities. Tax roll for the South Randall County Hospital District is $117,735, for the High Plains Water District it is $4,155, for the Bushland School District it is $18,707, and for the state it is

Santa Claus seeks letters from locals

Santa Claus announced Saturday his North Pole office is open and prepared to accept recommendations or suggestions for Christmas presents from children in the Canyon area.

Claus, calling long-distance, said he has named The Canyon News official letter collection headquarters for Randall County.

And, he urged local youngsters to prepare their gift requests in the not-too-distant future to avoid mail tie-ups anticipated in the North Pole region during the final days before Christmas.

Days numbered for ad signs along major area highways

The days are numbered for outdoor signs and billboards advertising everything from banks and clothing to fraternities and motels along U.S. 87 and U.S. 60 coming into Canyon.

Stiff regulations are now in effect which will eventually eliminate all but a few of the advertisements.

The Texas Highway Department announced last week that owners of advertising signs along major state highways have until Dec. 31 to apply for permits required under the Texas Highway Beautification Act.

District Engineer Chili Smith said the act controls all outdoor advertising signs from the largest signboard to the smallest sign hanging from a fence along the right of way.

He said the Texas Highway Commission established the Dec. 31 deadline under legislation which was effective June 29.

The act requires that no person may erect or maintain a sign within 660 feet of an interestate or federal-aid primary highway in Texas without a license to engage in outdoor advertising.

In addition to the license, the sign owner must have a permit for each sign he has now or which he plans to erect.

Signs advertising activities conducted on the premises and those offering the property for sale are exempt.

Smith said ultimately the law requires that current signs be removed which are not farther than 660 feet from the highway right of way.

He said probably the law will have the effect of eliminating outdoor advertising in the state "unless someone wants to invest in a mammoth thing."

Affected by the law will be signs on ranchers' property, many of which can be seen on highways leading into Canyon. The signs state the name of the ranch above a much larger advertisement. Smith said the ranch name signs are legal but the larger advertisements will not be ultimately.

The new beautification act will be implemented in stages, with the first stage in progress currently.

This initial stage requires the owner of an outdoor advertisement to obtain a state license and post a bond. The license fee is $25 and the license is valid for an indefinite period.

Top vehicle condition cited as vital in foul weather

With winter well under way in the area and the streets and highways often becoming glassy ribbons defying even the best of drivers, The News asked Eural Ramsey, director of West Texas State University's driver training program, how best to cope with winter driving conditions.

After citing the first snow and ice of the season as the most destructive in the way of auto mishaps, Ramsey said getting the vehicle in top condition was the most important physical aspect of safe driving.

According to the instructor, things to be checked and gotten into proper working order were the tires, brakes, windshield wipers, lights, defroster and exhaust system.

The exhaust system is vitally important, said Ramsey, because any malfunction on its part could cause death by asphyxiation, especially if the motorist becomes stranded and leaves the engine running for any length of time.

Proper planning, including getting off to an early start, is equally important to bad weather driving, said Ramsey. By leaving early, the motorist will not find it necessary to rush at speeds too fast for roadway conditions.

Before putting the car into motion, says Ramsey, it is imperative that all snow, ice or other obstructions be cleaned away from the window areas. "The outside rear-view mirror should also be cleaned off," he added.

Being able to see in all directions, plus maintaining a speed that allows constant control of the vehicle, adds up to "getting the big picture" of driving safety, said Ramsey.

"Speed control is the main fac-

Dog she didn't want now saves her life

Mrs. Lula Johnson of 1219 4th Avenue really wanted a Chihuajua when a friend gave her a little black poodle several months ago.

Now, Mrs. Johnson's glad she accepted the gift.

Mrs. Johnson had been to an afternoon party one day recently and when she returned home, she decided to lie down on the floor in front of her small open-gas heater to rest before tackling household chores.

The temperature outside was cold and the gas heater spewed warmth as Mrs. Johnson settled on the floor.

Twenty minutes later, Mrs. Johnson was awakened by the angry barking and nipping of the ebony poodle named Blackie.

"He woke me up and the room was full of gas," Mrs. Johnson said. "If he hadn't done that I'm sure I wouldn't have awakened."

Mrs. Johnson credits Blackie with saving her life.

"He was barking and biting at me," she said. "Now he won't even let me sleep on the floor. If I lie down he'll pester me until I get up." She said when she awoke she found that only about two inches of flame was burning in the two-foot long gas stove. The rest of the gas jets were spewing the deadly gas throughout her home.

"I didn't think I even wanted a poodle," she said. "I thought I wanted a Chihuajua. But, now I wouldn't trade him for a dozen Chihuajuas."

Mrs. Lula Johnson credits the black bundle in her arms with saving her life recently. Blackie, who she says awakened her to a gas-filled house, is a poodle puppy, a breed Mrs. Johnson didn't really want. She wouldn't trade Blackie now.

Americans Should Give Thanks For Freedom

By ANN BROWN

Americans, as a whole, are a generous people. At this season of the year it might be profitable to pause and ask ourselves if we are as generous in thanking God for the gifts He has showered upon us as we are in sharing those gifts with others.

What impresses visitors from Europe and Asia is not our bountiful material blessings; it is our freedom. Refugees from behind the iron curtain say no more than 6 people may gather there without a permit.

They must get permission to go from one town to another. Permits usually take months — sometimes years — to procure.

No business can be transacted without government sanction.

Many of us have questioned why nations that exported food when they were free, must import it or starve under communism.

Princess Catherine Caradja said that in her native Romania, all landlords and business owners were deposed along with royalty. They either fled, were slain, imprisoned, or turned out without ration cards. Tenants then took over the land, and employees the business firms.

But the tenants, who produced bountiful crops for their landlords, are not allowed to plant one seed without government orders.

Princess Catherine asked local farmers what kind of crops they thought they could produce if they had to wait for a directive from Washington — or Austin — before they could plant, water, cultivate, or harvest.

It is one of life's mysteries that idealists continue to think of Utopia as a commune. Yet the only "commune" that has ever been successful is the family. And socialist policies increasingly contribute to the disintegration of the family.

The Puritans who came over on the Mayflower in 1620 and established the little commune at Plymouth probably did so in Christian sincerity. Yet Gov. Bradford reported in his History of Plymouth Plantation that he was forced to choose between extinction and free enterprise for the colony. Food became so scarce, rations were cut to 5 grains of corn a day for each person.

The single men in the Plymouth Colony resented having to provide food and firewood for the wives and children of other men. And the wives resented having to cook and wash for the single men.

Communal living fails because it is contrary to human nature. Work that is a joy to do for one's own family, or for a friend or neighbor in need, becomes slave labor when one is forced to render the same service to thankless strangers.

The next fall after each man was assigned a plot of ground, where he could work or starve, and cut his own firewood or freeze, Gov. Bradford reported larders bulging and woodpiles high.

The grateful Pilgrims gathered for their first Thanksgiving Day in their "meeting house" from 9 to 12 to give thanks to God. Their gratitude, however, was not limited to thanks for food, fuel, and shelter. The blessing they were most grateful for was their freedom.

Gov. Bradford added that when each man was free to go his own way and carve out his own destiny, the strife and bickering ceased, and the spirit of loving fellowship and mutual concern that had inspired the organization of the colony returned.

How have the Russians survived almost 56 years without reverting to free enterprise? Two ways: They have gobbled up their weaker neighbors, and absorbed their wealth; and they have obtained huge "loans" from free Americans.

Princess Catherine has been traversing America for 17 years asking her beloved adopted Country a most pertinent question: "If we lose our freedom — and with it our productivity — who will help us?"

While we thank God for our many blessings this holiday season, may we not forget the one from which all others flow — our freedom.

It's More Than A Judgement

When persons come before County Judge Woody Pond facing charges of driving while intoxicated or other violations involving alcoholic beverages, they may get more than a fine, a jail term or probation.

The judge is now handing out copies of a typewritten sheet called "For an alcoholic to consider."

Written by an anonymous author, the paper contains a long list of suggestions for alcoholics and ultimately points them toward Alcoholics Anonymous.

The judge says he asks all persons convicted of driving while intoxicated or similar charges whether they think they have a drinking problem.

"They always say they don't," he said. "And, I say 'you do, or you wouldn't be here.'

"I tell them to keep it and it won't hurt them to read it some time. It might save their lives or somebody else's. If it helps one man it'll be worth the effort."

Another Look At New Ed. Program

By CARROLL WILSON

I'm always a little skeptical when I hear a bunch of college professors complaining that their academic freedom is being tampered with.

Not to say college professors are alarmists, but sometimes they, like other people, tend to get upset over nothing.

In perhaps their most vociferous effort in recent years, some 20 WTSU professors rallied last week to defend their academic freedom from a legislated program called competency- (or performance) based teacher education.

The happenings of the meeting during which the professors heard Dr. Emmitt Smith, an advocate of the program, explain the history and functioning of competency-based teacher education, were reported in the Thursday News.

After hearing Dr. Smith's presentation, and reading a letter about the program from the Texas commissioner of education, and a short brochure on the subject, I'm not so sure the WTSU professors, who during last week's meeting proclaimed the program a possible infringement on academic freedom, are crying wolf.

Several things make me suspicious of the new competency-based teacher education program besides its mechanical functioning, of which I am definitely suspicious.

For one thing, few lay people or even college professors outside the College of Education, ever remember hearing that the competency-based teacher education system was being proposed for implementation through the Texas Legislature last spring.

In fact, I can't find anybody — again outside the College of Education — who even knew the program was coming to reality this year.

This makes me wonder about the opportunity given by proponents of the teacher education program for free and open discussion of the program before the program was presented the legislature and even while it was being passed through various committees.

In other words, the public had very little, if any, knowledge of what its elected officials were doing to the university education system with passage of the legislation.

Sounds a little clandestine.

Another thing which adds to my suspicion is the current status of teacher education in many universities in the state and in the country.

It is seemingly a fact that today's market is glutted with teachers.

It is only logical to assume that if the market is glutted, students will probably decide to specialize in some field other than education in college. Enrollment in Colleges of Education will therefore decline. State funding, which is made contingent on enrollment, will therefore decline. Professors in education will have to look for other jobs, and ultimately their professional stature will decline.

How could you better insure a prominent position in a university system, than to pass a law which virtually assures you of power and prestige, two items the professional university educator will certainly have under the proposed competency-based program.

For at least two decades, the U.S. Army (and probably the other services) has been using many of the concepts of the competency-based teacher education system in their formal military training for officers and enlisted men.

I witnessed the Army's system of education first-hand for two years at the U.S. Army Adjutant General School at Fort Harrison, Ind., and I almost became a part of it during my last six months in the Army.

The Army system, like the system in competency-based teacher education, says that each course must have a stated set of objectives, goals and procedures.

The Army system, like the competency-based teacher education system, tends to substitute showmanship for methodology, and scholarly knowledge.

The tenet in the Army, and I've heard it stated, is that anybody can teach anything.

To become a teacher at the U.S. Army Adjutant General School, for example, all you have to have is a set of orders assigning you to the school, a passing grade out of a two-week charm school (where they teach you how to teach) and a thick course outline.

Army instruction is, however, task-oriented, teaching the how-to more than the general philisophical aspects of a situation.

Competency-based teacher education has all the earmarks of just such a task-oriented system, where emphasis is given the task to be accomplished, how it is to be accomplished and how you determine whether it was accomplished well.

Now, much of college education is not task-oriented. It is mind-oriented or aimed at stimulating thought, which could in turn lead to task accomplishment.

The system fits well in the Army, where it seems possible for anybody to teach anything.

It is highly doubtful to me that the same system could be accommodated to college, with its emphasis on teaching intangibles.

I'm deeply concerned at the most recent cry of "academic freedom infringement" from WTSU professors, and I believe their complaint has more than enough justification to warrant action to ensure that what the peoples' representatives gave us is what we want.

Kudos to City Manager George Loudder, who has written the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, to obtain a legal opinion concerning the charges levelled by city employee Mrs. Marguerite Strain.

Mrs. Strain had filed a complaint with the EEOC downstate charging that the Texas Municipal Retirement System, which operates for City of Canyon employees, discriminates against women in the manner in which it dishes out retirement funds.

Loudder's action is appropriate and I hope whatever answer he receives from the federal office will be acted on swiftly and with Mrs. Strain's welfare in mind.

County To Eye Tax Computer

Discussion on the possible expansion of computer use in the Randall County tax office is expected Monday afternoon.

County commissioners are expected to meet with Durwood Henderson, computer center director at West Texas State University, and Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, during their regular 1 p.m. meeting.

Mrs. Bruse had earlier requested that more of the functions in her office be computerized to ease operations and to avoid the addition of more personnel in the future.

Currently, only small parts of the tax office operations are computerized.

Commissioners are also expected to discuss insurance for elected officials and county employees, and cooperation between Randall and Potter counties for a veterans service officer.

Sifting With Sands

The Bigger They Are, The Harder They Fall

By JIM SANDS

Somewhere along the line, I've heard a saying claiming that "What you don't know won't hurt you." And down through the years, there have been many instances of people doing things they were not able to do, simply because they did not know they couldn't.

Fellows like Edison, Bell, Pasteur and the Wright Brothers, and groups like the Mets and Jets, have all done "impossible" things, apparently because they were too stubborn to know, like everyone else, that they were beating their heads against the proverbial brick wall.

This year in Canyon, a similar "impossible" situation presented itself to a Kids Inc., football team, not once, but twice.

The Cyclones, 11- and 12-year-olds coached by Herb Hall, were made up of two 12-year-olds with the remainder of the team being age 11.

During the early part of the season, the sixth graders were pitted against a Hamlet, junior high age team from Amarillo made up of 12- and 13-year olds.

The little scrappers on that occasion left the field at the end of the game with a 0-0 tie.

In their next to last game of the season, they took the home field to do battle with the Mann team from Amarillo and after the hardfought 14-0 loss they jammed together to give the traditional cheer for the opposing team.

It was then, after cheers for Mann, that the opposing coach approached coach Hall to tell him that he had been playing Bowie, a junior high team substituted at the last minute when Mann was unable to play.

In neither outing against the bigger, stronger and more experienced teams did the Cyclones know that they were up against a foe destined to blow them right off the playing field.

But like they say, "What you don't know won't hurt you."

"Lord grant me a team strong enough to overcome not only the opposition...but also the officials," was the prayer of a coach I once knew.

Maybe the reason 'The Great Pumpkin" hasn't showed up lately is because it keeps getting tangled up in Christmas tree lights, observes one "let's wait 'til December for Christmas" buff.

Letter To The Editor

A Review of School Prayers

Dear Troy:

I noticed the comment in your newspaper (Sunday edition, October 29, 1972) to the effect that ". . . we should remember it was Mrs. O'Hair who pressured the court into outlawing prayer and Bible reading in public schools." This kind of comment has appeared in your paper several times and I had finally begun to wonder if prayer and Bible reading were actually outlawed in public schools.

I corresponded with Mr. L. A. Covington, Assistant Clerk, The Supreme Court of the United States, Washington, D.C., in regard to this matter. In a letter I received from him on November 9, 1972, Mr. Covington commented that the Court and its Justices do not answer questions regarding opinions or comment on opinions after they (the opinions) have been decided by the Court. He did refer me to the United States Reports and to the following citations:

Engel v. Vitale
N. 468, October Term, 1961
Vol. 370 U.S., page 421

School District of Abington Township, Pa. v. Schempp
Nos. 142 & 119, October Term, 1962
Vol. 374 U.S., page 203

These citations are available in the Documents Section of the library at West Texas State University. They are fascinating reading and tend to make the statement quoted in the first paragraph of this letter appear naive and misleading. I hope your readers who are interested in this "prayer and Bible" issue will have an opportunity to examine the scholarly citations mentioned above. Perhaps some of your staff might even like to do some additional research.

I have enjoyed using some of your public records in some of my own research activity. Turn about is fair play.

Sincerely,
Thomas M. Cannon, Jr.

Services Held For Resident

Mrs. Nina Marie Gray, 44, died Wednesday in an Abilene Hospital.

Formerly of Canyon, she had been an Abilene resident almost two years.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Calvary Baptist Church in Canyon with the Rev. Jack Boyett, former paster, and the Rev. Bill Foil, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery by LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Pallbearers included Alvin Loven, Billy Seales, Ronnie Hawthorne, Lloyd Gordon, O. C. Free and Ray Bible.

Mrs. Gray was a native of Mangum, Okla. She was married June 4, 1952 to Hildred Gray. She had been a member of the Calvary Baptist Church here.

Survivors include her husband of 1609 2nd Avenue in Canyon; sons, Charlie and Jerry Don, both of the home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pruitt of 1902 5th Ave.; a sister, Mrs. Bill Adcock of Fort Smith, Ark.; and a half-brother, Boe Hollis of Canyon.

Troy Martin, publisher of The News, accepted responsibility of handling the mail for Claus.

In fact, he said, some letters have already arrived and have been forwarded for Claus's use.

Martin said letters should be mailed to the following address for fast service to the Arctic regions:

Santa Claus
c/o The Canyon News
Box 779
Canyon, Texas 79015

The News publisher said that again this year the newspaper will print the letters to Santa Claus in editions prior to Christmas.

Jerry Christian and Reginald Ramey. Christian is the only returning regular off last year's Buffalo squad returning. Lake was a letterman, as was Rodriguez. Jordan is a junior college transfer and Ramey is a freshman.

The Buffalo junior varsity team opens its home season Saturday against the Panhandle State junior varsity. The young Buffaloes play at 5:15 p.m. in the Civic Center, just prior to the varsity clash.

Probable starters for the JV team are Larry Jarzombek, Bryan Kendrick, Mark Wible, Mark Nixon and Bobby Anderson. Jarzombek is the only sophomore starting. The remainder of the starters are freshmen.

The concept also involves the idea that prospective teachers should be taught by professionals throughout the university who have clearly defined goals and course objectives.

To ensure all professors teaching prospective teachers have these clearly defined goals and objectives, Dr. Smith said, an executive board at the regional education center has the power to require professors — in the college of education as well as the Arts and Sciences — to submit course objectives and goals for approval before they can be taught.

This concept received the most fire from AAUP meeting attendees last week. They charged this concept allows an outside group to set the standards of teaching within the university. One professor called the concept "censorship."

Student. . .

the call to the school, Stewart said.

Chief Stewart said the leaflets, possibly as many as 100, had been handwritten by at least three people.

The leaflets called for students to walk out of classes at the beginning of the second period Tuesday in support of doing away with the school's dress and hair code.

Some of the notes instructed students take lunches and to not eat in the cafeteria.

The walkout time passed with no students leaving their classes, school officials said.

Principal Sommer told The News that the planned boycott failed due to disinterest by students. "They showed surprise and disgust when they learned that such a move was being planned," he added.

According to school policy, students taking part in any activity intended to disrupt classes are subject to dismissal. This also includes the passing out of leaflets or brochures on school property unless authorized by the school, Sommer said. He added that no such permission was requested or granted Monday.

The charge against Mrs. Bergstresser is under state law that prohibits persons from making any report, verbally, in writing or by telephone or other mechanical means, that causes emergency equipment to respond when no emergency exists.

The same law covers the turning in of false alarms to fire departments, Chief Stewart said.

Plans were begun this week for a Mothers' March on Jan. 25 for funds for the National Foundation — March of Dimes by Mrs. Bob Hand, Mothers' March chairman, Mrs. Jack Sebastian, Golden Spread Chapter Executive, and Don Vars, campaign director.

Vars Heads Campaign For Dimes

The Mothers' March for funds to prevent birth defects has been set for Thursday, January 25, in Canyon, to be directed by Don Vars, campaign director, and Mrs. Bob Hand, Mothers' March chairman.

The announcement was made this week by Mrs. Jack Sebastian of Amarillo, chapter executive of the Golden Spread Chapter of the National Foundation — March of Dimes. The voluntary organization, which formerly focused on combatting infantile paralysis, is now the largest source of private support for research and services aimed at preventing birth defects.

A Mother's March meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank of Canyon. A film will be shown on the work of the MOD, and new medical breakthroughs to aid in the prevention of birth defects will be discussed. All interested individuals are urged to attend.

A number of Canyon women's clubs, including Heritage Study Club, Canyon Study Club, and Canyon Dames, as well as interested individuals have expressed their support of the Mothers' March, according to Mrs. Sebastian.

Snow Holds Back Harvest

For the third time in this young winter season, snow dropped in on Randall County, further delaying the already behind grain crop.

Except for holding up harvesting, the at-least-one-inch snowfall caused little in the way of problems or discomfort.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two minor accidents in the county, one north of Canyon and one to the west. On this most recent visit by snow, the highways did not become icy ribbons and there were no major tieups of traffic.

According to agriculture leaders, at least 25 per cent of this year's grain crop is still in the field. Harvesting will resume as soon as the boggy fields dry up enough to allow invasion by machinery.

Snowfall in the county for the month of November has reached about five inches. The snows have contained a high amount of moisture and the Friday melt-off in Canyon left just under one-third of an inch, weather bureau spokesmen said.

The U.S. Weather Bureau Service in Amarillo today should be fair and warmer with the high going to near 50 degrees.

No snow, rain or other moisture is forecast through midweek, a weather bureau spokesman said Saturday.

C.O. Edwards Services Held

Funeral services for a former Canyon resident were held in Ralls at 2 p.m. Saturday.

C.O. Edwards, 76, died Thursday afternoon of an apparent heart attack. He had moved to Ralls from Canyon in 1928.

Engaged in farming and ranching, Mr. Edwards was the father of J.A. Edwards of Canyon.

Other survivors include his wife, Ora Lee, another son, three sisters and three grandchildren.

Services Held For Long-time Umbarger Man

Alphonse Conrad Evers, 57, of Umbarger, died at 1 p.m. Thursday at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Rosary was held Friday night at LaGrone Funeral Chapel. Requiem mass was read Saturday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger with the Rt. Rev. Matthew Shafle, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery at Umbarger.

Pallbearers included Bernard F. Zimmer, Floyd Bichsel, Herman Hollenstein, Vincent Friemel, E. A. Stocker and Raymond Batenhorst.

Mr. Evers had been an Umbarger resident 55 years. He was born in Mita, Mo.

He married the former Anna Hess on Aug. 25, 1937, at Umbarger.

He had been a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Knights of Columbus.

Survivors include his wife of the home; his mother, Mrs. Rose Evers of Umbarger; sons, Allen of Hereford, Charles of Amarillo, and Edward, Weldon and Donnie of the home; daughters, Mrs. Patsy Huseman of Nazareth, Miss Carolyn Evers of the home and Miss Shirley Evers of Amarillo; sisters, Mrs. Robert Halter of Graham, Mrs. Earl Fisher of Muenster and Mrs. Melvin Fenoglio of Azle; and 12 grandchildren.

period, the Tigers struck again, this time capitalizing on an interception of a Mark Hargrave thrown pass.

Romping 38 yards in seven plays, Groom tallied again on a four yard run up the middle by Stan Britten, Tim's cousin.

Another West pass, this time to Arthur Brown, made it 16-7 with 6:27 showing in the half.

The Cowboys took over and began their first really forceful drive toward the goal line, punching out four and five yards per carry as they headed downfield.

After driving to the 16 yard line from their own 40 in 18 plays, Happy lost the ball on a fumble and Groom took over to run out the first half clock.

Shortly after the second half opened, the Cowboys began their second sustained drive, this one beginning at the Cowboy 11. They drove 13 plays only to be stopped on the Groom 27 when Hargrave fumbled the ball.

Groom took over on their own 28 and blazed downfield with Randy Garmon going over for another Tiger touchdown. Extra point try was no good and the Tigers led 22-7 with 39 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

The ball exchanged hands several times before Groom came into possession again with 6 minutes left in the game.

Forcing Happy to punt, the Tigers took over on the Cowboy 46 yard line. A quick run by Garmon put the ball at the 34. Then a West pass to Garmon for 34 yards cinched the game. Extra point try was no good and Groom led 28-7.

Happy never threatened after that, with one drive stalled by a fumble and another by an intercepted pass.

The Tigers tallied 366 total yards in their win, with 332 of them coming on the ground. Leading ground gainer was Tim Britten with 160 yards followed by Garmon with 81.

West only passed four times, completing just one for 34 yards.

Happy made just 199 total yards with 100 on the ground and 24 in the air. Seventy-five came on the opening kick-off return.

Hargrave attempted eight passes, completing two and having two intercepted.

Leading ground gainer for Happy was Pearson with 48 yards followed by Hargrave with 28.

Groom totalled 19 first downs compared to Happy's 10.

Hints. . .

tor and can prevent an awful lot of accidents," said the driving instructor. He commented that "the big picture" also included driving courtesy.

Distractions, such as loud and rambunctious children or a loud radio, should be kept to a minimum when driving in any weather, said Ramsey. This is doubly true in hazardous times, he added.

Getting underway, not always an easy task, is best accomplished by trying to move the vehicle as slowly as possible without making the tires spin. According to Ramsey, this slow takeoff does two things, it retains traction and prevents side skids.

When asked about the advisability of lowering pressure in the tires for greater traction, Ramsey said this has been definitely proven to be of no value. The low pressure idea only causes wear and tear on the tires, Ramsey said. "Tire pressure should be kept even."

Ramsey advised all motorists to travel with a small shovel, chains and flares as insurance against getting stranded.

Should the car become mired in deep snow, said Ramsey, the wheels should be lined up straight and a back and forth rocking motion used in working free.

If the car is hopelessly stuck and the motor is left running, a window should be opened enough to provide proper ventilation, Ramsey said. This is true even if the exhaust system has been checked and found to be in a safe condition.

Ramsey also advised using all forms of restraint such as seat belts and harnesses to protect against whiplash and neck injuries. "Rear-end collisions are common during bad weather," he said.

Concentration and driving as though the worst possible was about to happen is a good way of summing up the safest way to cope with winter driving, Ramsey said. He cited instances where wet or icy spots suddenly present themselves on otherwise dry roadways. Water dripping from overhanging trees or overpasses is always a hazard, he said.

Ice covered overpasses also pose a problem on otherwise safe highways, says Ramsey, unless the driver is "getting the big picture" and is on the lookout for such hazards.

Again referring to speed, Ramsey said the rate of travel should always be kept at the safest speed for the overall conditions, not for the best spots in the route.

Summing up bad weather driving, Ramsey said safety depended on "the mechanical condition of the car . . . and the mental condition of the driver."

The license application must be accompanied by a bond for $2500 for each county in which signs are located or a maximum bond of $10,000 for owners with signs in more than three counties.

After obtaining a license, Smith said, the owner is required to obtain a separate permit for each existing and new off-premises sign on the affected highways.

With each sign permit required, the owner should submit an application accompanied by a check or money order for $5 to the Highway department district office for the county in which the sign is located.

If the permit application is for an existing sign, the highway department will check to see if the sign conforms to standards set by the beautification act, Smith said.

Permits now will be issued for signs in place prior to June 29 even if they do not conform to the law. They will be permitted to stay in place until programmed for acquisition or removal.

Permits for new signs will not be issued unless they do conform to the law, he said.

In connection with implementation of the act, the highway department has begun removal of abandoned or illegal signs on highways.

Taxes. . .

Total tax roll handled by the county office, then, is $900,049.

Of that total, $675,304 had been collected during October.

Mrs. Bruse said the county's big rush for tax collection is always October, but she said that October 1972 was unusual because county tax office employees weren't swamped all at once with paid taxes. Rather, the payments came in in an even flow throughout the month.

The county, like the school district, offers a 3 per cent discount in October, a 2 per cent discount in November and a 1 per cent discount in December.

The school district will mail out second notices to taxpayers who haven't paid in early January.

Deadline for paying all taxes in the county, school district and city is Feb. 1, 1973.

Second notices will be sent county residents who owe taxes in the spring, just before a late charge is slapped on their taxes.

Kuykendall said the school district usually collects above 95 per cent of the taxes due in any one year. Mrs. Bruse said the county percentage is about 96 per cent.

Mrs. Sheffy Dies Overseas

Canyon relatives of Mrs. Carrie V. Sheffy, long-time Canyon resident, received word Friday of her death earlier that day in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic.

Mrs. Sheffy, wife of the late Dr. L. F. Sheffy, who for many years was head of the history department at West Texas State University, had lived in Santo Domingo with a niece since August 1971. Her husband preceded her in death on Thanksgiving Day 1967.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sheffy are pending with Lemmon Funeral Home in Plainview.

Mrs. Sheffy was born March 22, 1890 in Clarendon. She lived several years in Plainview and she and her husband moved to Canyon in 1917.

Together, they were charter members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and participated in church activities at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Sheffy was choir director of the church.

Among her activities in Canyon, she was sponsor of Delta Zeta Chi sorority for a number of years.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. H. Dillehay of Bonham, and a number of nieces and nephews.

"Roof Leaking"?
Stop all leaks. Preserve and extend the life of any roof that is old. Save the cost of replacing the roof. T.M. White and M.A. Black have been developed especially for flat roofs of tar and paper, composition and cedar shingles.
Heavy bodied T.M. White is applied in two coats by brush or spray. Cost $6.00 per gallon. Covers 100 sq. ft. per gallon with two coats. Easily brushed.
Best job is to prime any roof with M.A. Black. Not a tar. Penetrates old felt or shingles to be very water repellent. M.A. Black costs only $3.50 per gallon; less in 5's. Covers 100 ft. per gallon.
Anyone can apply. The white roof is attractive and reflects heat in summer months to reduce air conditioning costs.
Call or come and see these and other Lifetime Coatings for metal buildings. Our 22nd year.

Committee Unearthed At WTSU

The existence of a new committee on the faculty council at West Texas State University, a committee on equal employment opportunity grievances, surfaced last week.

But, officials at WTSU don't have much to say about it.

Notice of appointments to the committee was made in the Faculty Bulletin, an almost daily intra-university publication, last week.

The committee was apparently formed last spring or summer, but its existence is not noted in the current Faculty Handbook.

Dr. Ray Malzahn, academic vice president at WTSU, said he believes the committee has been empowered to hold hearings and make recommendations.

He said, however, he couldn't remember exactly the purpose or responsibilities of the committee.

He said it was formed "because it seemed like a good idea."

Allene Stovall, recently appointed to the committee chairmanship, said the committee has not heard an employment grievance yet.

WTSU came under attack for its employment practices last winter when Dr. Paula Latimer, now president of the Texas Women's Equity Action League, filed a letter of complaint with the Dallas civil rights office.

The letter charged that the university discriminates against women in its hiring and promotion practices.

Last summer, a team from the civil rights office spent several days on the Canyon campus, primarily as a result of Dr. Latimer's complaints.

They confirmed her charge that WTSU discriminates against women and instructed the university to take several steps to alleviate the problem.

News Brief

Two dairy cows owned by Raymond Hinders of Happy have received Gold Medal dam status from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The recognition is based on the animal's outstanding milk production and desirable body conformation.

5th Army Gen. To Visit Here

A deputy commanding general from 5th U.S. Army headquartered at San Antonio will be in Canyon Wednesday viewing facilities of the West Texas State University ROTC detachment.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Franklin, one of whose responsibilities is reserve affairs in the 5th Army area, will arrive in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon.

He will be honored with a small reception Tuesday evening, to which university officials and ranking area reservists have been invited.

Wednesday morning, the general will return to Canyon about 8:30 a.m. and will be briefed on the WTSU ROTC operation. He will also sit in on ROTC classes and confer with university president Dr. James P. Cornette and other WTSU officials during the morning stay.

He is expected to leave Canyon by helicopter before noon for a similar visit at Panhandle State College in Oklahoma.

An ROTC spokesman said General Franklin's visit is part of a new Army program of general officer visitation to area campuses.

News Brief

Ricky Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Jones of 1102 8th St., enjoyed the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents here. Young Jones is a freshman civil engineering student at Texas A&M. The Jones' daughter, Ellen, a sophomore chemical engineering student at A&M, spent the holidays visiting an uncle in Corpus Christi. Ricky leaves today to return to College Station.

'Flea' Tables Going Fast

Only a few tables remain to be sold for the Rotary Club Flea Market, which is scheduled all day Saturday at the junior livestock building here.

Conway Kuykendall, flea market chairman, said almost 20 tables have been sold in the building for use by local flea marketeers to display and sell their wares.

Kuykendall announced Friday that door prizes will be given away four times during the day Saturday to market-goers by the Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the activity to raise money for local projects.

He noted that the market now includes persons selling almost everything imaginable. Local clubs as well as individuals have already purchased tables for everything from fresh mistletoe to hand-blown glass.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS
Watch, Clock & Jewelry Repair
"20 Years Experience Specializing in High Grade Watches and Clocks."
LOUIS ROMERO
2308 4th Ave. Canyon
Bus. 655-9931
Res. 376-9004

Business Review

Thanksgiving is behind us and Christmas is just around the corner.

The time has arrived for you to begin thinking seriously about Christmas gifts for those special people on your list.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS offers a fine selection of quality watches, clocks and jewelry that may be just right for those special people.

"We carry the best and if we do not have an item in stock a customer wants, we can usually get it," says Romero.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is located at 2308 4th Avenue between the Buffalo Bookstore and the Brass Carriage. Erskines Jewelry previously occupied this location.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is also the place to go when you need a wrist watch, clock or piece of quality jewelry repaired.

Twenty years experience repairing high grade watches, clocks, and jewelry qualifies Romero as an expert—and who wants less when such delicate and expensive items are at stake?

Romero is always ready to help with individual problems too.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS also has a fine selection of WATCH BANDS that will be worth your time to come in and see.

"A watch band greatly increases the attractivness of your watch," says Romero, "and if your band is worn out a new one may prevent you from losing your watch," he adds.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Now would be a good time to put a gift on layaway for christmas.

If you cannot make it to the store and have a particular question, you may reach him there at 655-9931 or at his residence at 376-9004.

Mrs. David Edwin Nickles, nee Melinda Susan Lauder

Lauder-Nickles VowsExchanged

Miss Melinda Susan Lauder became the bride of David Edwin Nickles in a double ring ceremony taking place Friday evening at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo. The Rev. Evans Moreland officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Lauder of Amarillo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Nickles of Amarillo.

Selections of wedding music were played by Robert Goodnow, organist, of Amarillo.

An arrangement of bronze, gold and yellow mums was used with candles to decorate the altar.

Miss Rebecca Lynn Lauder was maid of honor, and Miss Debra Kaye Cothren, Miss Amy Elizabeth Lauder and Miss Lori Ann Lauder were bridesmaids. All, except Miss Cothren, were sisters of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of moss green velvet, trimmed in white lace and styled with long sleeves and stand-up collars. Each carried a bouquet of autumn colored flowers and wore sprigs of the same flowers in their hair, fastened with long green ribbons.

Larry W. Cothren was the best man. Groomsmen were David Gouldy, Alan Nickles, and Larry Holliday. The ushers were Rick Rupp, John Smithee, Dale Webb, Bob Mosley, and Andy Phillips, all of Amarillo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white bridal satin trimmed in old-fashioned lace, designed in Victorian style with high collar, long Juliet sleeves, and bodice with lace pinafore ruffles. Rows of lace accented the bodice and sleeves, and a triple row of lace ruffles edged the train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a satin coif, and she carried a cascade of white orchids with white and yellow roses and white baby mums.

After the ceremony, a reception followed in the fellowship rooms of the church. The bride's cake was topped with autumn flowers in shades of bronze, gold, and yellow, and a cross entwined with double wedding rings. Flowers also circled the base of both bride's and groom's cakes. The house party was made up of Mrs. Allen Nickles, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Howard Sithen, Mrs. Bill Taylor, Mrs. Leonard Warren, cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Cynthia Phillips, cousin, Miss Robin Hyse, Miss Teresa Hatcher, and Miss Susan Brady.

During the reception, Bob Goodnow entertained guests by playing piano selections, including "Without You," "Theme from Love Story," and other popular songs.

The bride was wearing a navy dress trimmed with bib of lace and braid with the same trim down the long sleeves and around each cuff when the newlyweds left on a wedding trip.

After November 27, the couple will be at home at 3318 S. Western, Apt. No. 231.

The bride attended Amarillo College for two years where she was a member of Sigma Phi Chi social sorority. She is now employed at Thomas Cartage, Inc., in Amarillo.

The bridegroom also attended Amarillo College for two years where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Delta social fraternity. He also attended the University of Texas at Austin and is presently a marketing major at West Texas State University. He is employed as retail manager of Bucks Sporting Goods in Amarillo.

Student Chamber Music Scheduled Wednesday At WT

Works by Mozart, Schumann, and Vivaldi are scheduled for performance in a student chamber music program Wednesday at West Texas State University.

Performance time is 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The program is free.

Directing the program are David Ritter, assistant professor of music, George Eason, assistant professor of music, and Alan Hawkins, instructor in music.

The program is as follows:

Ibert's "Three Movements for Oboe, Clarinet and Bassoon," featuring Borger sophomore Donna Bogan, oboe, Snyder senior Judy Voelkel, clarinet, and San Angelo freshman Kathy Lynn, bassoon.

Vivaldi's "Sonata in g minor," featuring Lubbock senior Karen Newton, violin, Lubbock junior James Caddell, violin, Amarillo senior Janette Bruza, cello, and Amarillo senior David Boothe, harpsichord.

Mozart's "Symphone Concertante," featuring Miss Bogan, El Paso senior Tim Wine, clarinet, El Paso freshman William Levy, horn, Edinburg senior David Smith, bassoon, and Natick, Mass., graduate student Su Chung Wang, piano.

Mozart's minuet movement from "Trio K. 442," featuring El Paso sophomore Gregory Shaffer, violin, Grand Island, Neb., junior Linda Wise, cello, and Amarillo junior Lilly Koesjan, piano.

Milhaud's "La Chiminee du roi rune," featuring Canyon sophomore Jim Edwards, flute, Miss Bogan, oboe, Wine, clarinet, Canyon senior Carol Wood, horn, and Smith, bassoon.

Shumann's "Trio, Opus 110," featuring Caddell, violin, Canyon sophomore Mike Raillard, cello, and Amarillo sophomore Troy Ann Perkins, piano.

WTSU Dean Named Head Of Group

Dr. Donald Cates, dean of admissions and registrar at West Texas State University, is the new president of the Texas Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

Cates, 34, president-elect the past year, assumed the presidency at the state meeting last week. He has served as treasurer and a member of the executive committee since 1968.

The association is composed of more than 130 accredited junior and senior colleges and universities in Texas.

Cates said the purpose of the association is to "orient and provide professional training for new registrars and officers of admissions, and provide a medium by which the professional responsibility of registrars and admissions officers can be communicated as a group to other professional groups. The organization has maintained a legislative committee to communicate and inform higher education's needs to legislators."

Cates graduated in 1956 from San Angelo High School, where he previously taught history.

He received a bachelor's degree from Howard Payne College and Master of Education and Doctor of Education degrees from Texas Tech University.

Cates was director of undergraduate admissions and director of registration and records at Texas Tech before coming to West Texas State in 1967.

Area Attractions Given Notice In New Brochure

A simple, front-and-back sheet has been prepared by the staff at the musical-drama "TEXAS" to tell various periodicals and travel agents all the things there are to do in the Texas Panhandle.

Entitled "Glimpses of the Texas Panhandle. . ." the sheet will be used to reply to queries from various people about what there is to do in the Canyon and Amarillo area.

Listed on the sheet are Palo Duro Canyon State Park, the drama "TEXAS," Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, Amarillo and the area north of Amarillo. Package tours available in the area are also listed.

"This is the only place where area attractions are listed with prices and phone numbers for information and schedules," Mrs. Margaret Harper, publicity director for the show, said.

Featured on the sheet is a drawing of the famous lighthouse rock formation in Palo Duro Canyon by Ann Hardaway of Canyon.

Five thousand of the sheets were printed for distribution.

Janna Mills To Give Organ Recital

Miss Janna Mills, senior in the music department at West Texas State University, will perform an organ recital at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 8, in the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

A student of Miss Mary Ruth McCulley, Miss Mills has been the recipient of a music scholarship all four years at WTSU. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority.

Selections scheduled to be played are "Noel X (Grand Jeu et Duo) by Daquin; "Toccata, Adagio, and Fugue in C major," by Bach; "Dernier couplet du Gloria: Amen," by Couperin; "Le Sommeil de L'Enfant Jesus," by Russer; "Pastoral Dance on 'On Christmas Night,'" by Milford; "Allegro in D major," by Stanley; and "Prelude and Fugue in G minor," by Dupre. In the number by Russer she will be accompanied by Janette Bruza, cellist, and Mike Lacewell, pianist.

The public is invited to attend at no admission charge.

Biology Society Gives Scholarship To Borger Student

Cynthia Carlson of Borger is the recipient of a $100 scholarship awarded by the Delta Xi chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national biology society, at West Texas State University.

The award was announced at the organization's semi-annual initiation banquet Nov. 20.

Miss Carlson was given the grant on the basis of "scholarship, service to the biology department and work in the chapter" according to Charles E. Wright, associate professor of biology and chapter counselor.

A senior biology education major, Miss Carlson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin N. Carlson of (501 Estireno) Borger.

Fourteen students and one faculty member were initiated into the biology honor society at the banquet. Dr. Horace Bailey, professor and head of the department of biology, who is in his first year at WT, was admitted into the club.

Requirements for membership in Beta Beta Beta are a major or major emphasis in biology, completion of 45 semester hours, a 2.0 grade point average for four biology courses and a 1.5 overall average.

Fowlkes To Host Dinner For Foreign Students

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowlkes, northeast of Canyon, will be the setting for the next monthly dinner for foreign students and their friends in this area. The time has been set for 6:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 1.

As is customary, those attending will wear national costume, and bring a national dish.

Foreign students from Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Japan, Columbia, S. A., Equador, Peru, Pakistan, Taiwan, Philippines, Chile, Lebanon, and Latvia are expected to attend. Other interested foreigners as well as many Panhandle residents will add to the number.

Those who would like further information may contact Hsiangkuen Mao, president of the International Students Association at West Texas State University, at 655-3054.

Mrs. Mark L. Struhs, nee Cheryl Vines

Miss Vines, Struhs United In Marriage

Miss Cheryl Vines and Mark L. Struhs exchanged marriage vows Friday evening in a double-ring ceremony taking place in the home of her parents in Richardson, Texas. The Rev. Robert Oglesby officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Vines of Richardson.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Struhs of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

The candlelight ceremony was performed before an arch entwined with greenery, gardenias and roses.

Traditional wedding music, including "Liebestraum" by Schubert, was played by Bob Payne.

Miss Cyndee Vines and Miss Deborah Vines, sisters of the bride, attended as bridesmaids. Another sister, Brenda, was flower girl. They wore floor-length gowns with self-ruffled tops of beige crepe and floor-length skirts of brown velvet, accented with pink cumberbunds. They carried nosegays of pink roses.

Joe Beasley of Dallas was the best man, and Jerry Hopkins of Pampa was groomsman.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a formal bridal gown of ivory organza and antique French lace over ivory peau de soie designed in Victorian style high collar, long sleeves with wide ruffles at the wrist, and raised waistline. Rows of antique lace decorated the sleeves, bodice, collar and waist. Back fullness was added with a detachable train edged in wide, lace-trimmed flounce, and her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace coif. She carried a cascade of roses and gardenias, fastened with satin streamers.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Both the bride and groom are seniors attending West Texas State University. She is a member of Delta Zeta social sorority, and Struhs is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

"MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING" will open December 6 at the Oklahoma Theatre Center in Oklahoma City and run through December 23.

CHS Basketball In Full Swing

The Canyon High School basketball teams are beginning to get busy, with the girl Eagles playing Sunray last night, the boy Eagles going up against Tascosa Monday night, and both teams encountering Claude Tuesday night.

The girls, undefeated in five pre-season skirmishes, added another win to the string last week when they trounced Tahoka by a score of 103-37.

The sextet, along with their junior varsity sisters, were at home in the games against Sunray while the sophomore girls took on the Alamo High School varsity in earlier home action.

The results of those three games will appear in the Thursday edition of The News.

After taking a 57-41 drubbing from highly rated Hereford, the boy Eagles came back against the Palo Duro Dons by topping them 67-50. Following the win over the Dons, Coach B.B. Kendrick said he was pleased with the progress his team was making.

Monday night's action will be at Tascosa with both the varsity and junior varsity taking part. The sophomore boys are idle.

The defending state champion girls will join the boys on Tuesday night when Claude comes to town to do battle with both varsity and junior varsity teams. The sophomore boys and girls will travel to Nazareth that same night to play that school's varsity teams.

On Thursday, the boys varsity team will take part in the Brownfield tournament while the girls varsity travels to Sunray to play in a tourney there.

Also on Thursday, the boys JV team will enter a tournament being held in Borger. The girl JVs will be idle until Dec. 4 when Dimmitt visits Canyon for games with them, and the boy and girl varsities.

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

Elaine Maples shows Betty Cox of Amarillo some of her latest works. The art show will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday of this week.

Decorations To Be Up On Tuesday

Christmas decorations will go up in Canyon Tuesday, according to Chamber of Commerce manager Roland Black.

The decorations, purchased new last year, will spread Christmas spirit around the downtown square, down the length of 23rd Street and down 4th Avenue.

Erected will be 92 candy canes and 8 choir boys. The choir boys will go on light poles inside the downtown square.

In addition, two large "Merry Christmas" banners, which are illuminated, will be raised to span 23rd Street at its north and south ends.

Snow delayed putting up the decorations Friday, Black said.

Cowboy turnovers open door to bi-district loss

The Groom Tigers had been playing out of their league almost all season when they took on the Happy Cowboys Friday night at Groom.

Six early season games against class A and AA schools toughened the Class B Tigers who won the bi-district championship by defeating Happy 28-7.

The 4th ranked Cowboys fell to the awesome offense of two brothers and a pair of their cousins and a defense that could teach the pros something about pursuit.

For the Tigers, it had been a long wait. They've won 19 of the last 25 district championships and this is the first year Class B competitors have had a state championship to fight for.

For the Cowboys, it was a bitter pill in what had been a sweet season. They had fallen last week to a weaker Meadow team, but Coach Robert Criswell had racked that loss up to the fact that Happy had already won the district crown and Meadow was just a bump on the road to the bi-district game.

The Tigers boasted a poor, but not altogether revealing, season record going into Friday night's outing. They had lost six games — all of them to class A or AA schools before winning all three of their Class B district games at the close of the season.

Groom advances to the regional finals next weekend at an undetermined location.

The opening kick-off Friday night was hardly a preview of things to come as the Cowboys' Chris Pearson took the kick at his own 25 and sprinted downfield 75 yards to score.

But, things took an immediate reversal on the next series of downs when the Cowboys found out the Tigers meant business.

Two cousins, Tim and Greg Britten, working out of the backfield, blasted holes in the previously impermeable Happy line.

On the second down from scrimmage in the game Tim Britten raced 35 yards over his right tackle and seemed headed for paydirt before he was stopped cold by Teddy Offield.

In six more plays, the Tigers had driven to the Happy four-yard line but failed to sustain the drive as the Cowboy line held.

The Cowboys took over but couldn't make the first down. That was the Happy story all night.

Late in the first quarter, the Tigers took over after a Cowboy punt on the Happy 34 yard line. A 15-yard run by Tim Britten placed the ball on the Cowboy 12 and four plays later the 155-pound sophomore halfback chugged through a big hole in the right side of the line for a yard and paydirt.

A pass from quarterback Jim West to Tony Treadwell made it 8-7 in Groom's favor with 27 seconds left in the period.

Then, midway in the second

Meanwhile, out on the field, Cowboy quarterback Mark Hargrave finds out the meaning of pursuit as he tries to elude would-be tacklers around the end.

Teacher program objections will continue across state

The last has not been heard in objection to the recently legislated competency-based teacher education system which is due implementation in Texas universities by 1977.

That was the word at week's end from a West Texas State University American Association of University Professors source.

About 20 professors challenged the new state-wide system last week during a meeting of the local AAUP chapter on the WTSU campus, charging the program constitutes an infringement on academic freedom for professors.

The WTSU source said Friday that WTSU professors, primarily it seems in the Arts and Sciences, are not alone in their view that the competency-based teacher education program, passed into law for Texans last spring, could affect classroom freedom.

"Others are concerned about this as well," the source said. "We have heard from other schools where there has been an effort to challenge it."

The source said local AAUP members have not consented to take any active action to challenge the program, but he said several avenues are open to anyone who wants to actively challenge the system.

"There are basically two approaches," he said. "One is through the courts in an open court case. The second is through the legislature where you'd go back and try to get them to modify it."

Local AAUP members listened last week to a recounting of the history of the competency-based teacher education program by Dr. Emmitt Smith, long-time proponent of the system, during an hour and a half session.

Dr. Smith said one concept involved in the competency-based system is that of switching the emphasis for teacher education from the university to a regional education center. The regional education center in this area is already established and consists of WTSU faculty members, representatives of the school districts of Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford and the education service center, PESO.

Former CHS student charged in bomb threat occurrence

Lynda Zoe Bergstresser, 19, of 807 19th St., Canyon, is free on $2,000 bond set on a felony charge of making a false report of a bomb over the telephone.

Mrs. Bergstresser, a former Canyon High School student, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by city police as a result of their investigation into a bomb threat which caused classes at the high school to be disrupted Tuesday morning.

Canyon police chief Al Stewart said the arrest was made after officers took statements from two students who had apparently been involved in a planned boycott that failed to materialize earlier that morning.

Mrs. Bergstresser was charged and then arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. W. Hancock after she issued a written statement to Canyon police.

The incident began about 9:50 a.m. Tuesday when a school secretary received a telephone call from someone who said a bomb had been planted in the school. The device was set to explode at 10:15 a.m., the secretary quoted the caller as saying.

The secretary, who described the voice as that of a man, reported the call to principal John Sommer who then called police.

After the gym and Commons area were checked out and determined safe, the student body and faculty were evacuated to that location while officers searched the school building.

When the suspected time passed with no explosion, the students were returned to their classes.

"We felt that there was no bomb," said Stewart, "but we couldn't take any chances."

The possibility of a student walkout at the school was brought to light Monday morning when leaflets asking for boycott support were placed on cars parked in the school parking lot.

Chief Stewart, who said he had begun the investigation with the idea that the caller had been a boy or man, told The News that a woman or girl could have made the call if she lowered her voice and used a cloth or other device over the telephone mouthpiece.

The suspect knew the details of

Maroon madness begins Saturday

West Texas State's Maroon Madness basketball team opens its regular season Saturday in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum against the University of Corpus Christi.

The Buffaloes of coach Dennis Walling played the Chilean National team in an exhibition battle Saturday night in the Civic Center.

The game with Corpus will be the first of five consecutive home contests for the Buffaloes. They play Southern Mississippi Dec. 4, Trinity Dec. 7, University of Texas at Arlington Dec. 9 and Northeast Louisiana Dec. 12.

Following the home stand, the Buffaloes will travel to the east coast to play St. Peters Dec. 14 and on Dec. 16 face Long Island University in New York's Madison Square Garden.

After the trip to New York, the Buffaloes take a break until Jan. 3 when they travel to San Antonio to face Trinity and then play in Houston's Bluebonnet Bowl Classic.

This is the first year for the Buffalo cagers to compete for the Missouri Valley Conference championship and they open Valley play in Amarillo Jan. 11 against Bradley.

Other MVC games in Amarillo are against Drake, Tulsa, North Texas, New Mexico State, Wichita State and Louisville.

Senior guard Mike Rodriguez was slowed during practice this past week with an ankle injury. He missed the Thursday night scrimmage session in the Civic Center. The playmaker from San Gabriel, Calif., is expected to be ready for Saturday's game with Corpus Christi.

Other probable starters are Tommy Jordan, Brent Lake,

Majority of area taxes pour into waiting coffers

The tax money is flowing into city, county and school district coffers.

Tax assessor-collectors for each of the governmental units said last week more than 70 per cent of the taxes owed by property owners in Randall County have been paid since Oct. 1.

Tax statements were mailed by the taxing agencies earlier this fall before October.

Residents who paid their various taxes during October received a 3 per cent discount from the school district and county. Likewise, residents who paid taxes in November received a 2 per cent discount. If residents wait until December to pay, they will receive a 1 per cent discount.

Tax officials attribute the early high percentage of taxes paid to the discounts offered.

"It's coming in real good," said Conway Kuykendall, school and city tax assessor-collector. "Just about better than it ever has."

Kuykendall said 71.4 per cent of the school district's taxes have been collected so far. The school's tax roll is $1,072,463 and $765,974 has been collected.

"I'm just guessing but I'd say we were under 70 per cent this time last year," Kuykendall said.

He noted that the bulk of that 70 per cent was collected during October.

"Not very many people take advantage of the 2 and 1 per cent discounts," he said.

Kuykendall said about 72.7 per cent of the city's taxes have been collected, most of that in October, too. The city tax roll totals $300,741 and $218,596 has been collected.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector for the county, said totals for October indicate 73 per cent of the county's taxes were collected during that month alone.

Total tax roll for the county is $647,678.

The county tax office also collects taxes for several other taxing entitities. Tax roll for the South Randall County Hospital District is $117,735, for the High Plains Water District it is $4,155, for the Bushland School District it is $18,707, and for the state it is

Santa Claus seeks letters from locals

Santa Claus announced Saturday his North Pole office is open and prepared to accept recommendations or suggestions for Christmas presents from children in the Canyon area.

Claus, calling long-distance, said he has named The Canyon News official letter collection headquarters for Randall County.

And, he urged local youngsters to prepare their gift requests in the not-too-distant future to avoid mail tie-ups anticipated in the North Pole region during the final days before Christmas.

Days numbered for ad signs along major area highways

The days are numbered for outdoor signs and billboards advertising everything from banks and clothing to fraternities and motels along U.S. 87 and U.S. 60 coming into Canyon.

Stiff regulations are now in effect which will eventually eliminate all but a few of the advertisements.

The Texas Highway Department announced last week that owners of advertising signs along major state highways have until Dec. 31 to apply for permits required under the Texas Highway Beautification Act.

District Engineer Chili Smith said the act controls all outdoor advertising signs from the largest signboard to the smallest sign hanging from a fence along the right of way.

He said the Texas Highway Commission established the Dec. 31 deadline under legislation which was effective June 29.

The act requires that no person may erect or maintain a sign within 660 feet of an interestate or federal-aid primary highway in Texas without a license to engage in outdoor advertising.

In addition to the license, the sign owner must have a permit for each sign he has now or which he plans to erect.

Signs advertising activities conducted on the premises and those offering the property for sale are exempt.

Smith said ultimately the law requires that current signs be removed which are not farther than 660 feet from the highway right of way.

He said probably the law will have the effect of eliminating outdoor advertising in the state "unless someone wants to invest in a mammoth thing."

Affected by the law will be signs on ranchers' property, many of which can be seen on highways leading into Canyon. The signs state the name of the ranch above a much larger advertisement. Smith said the ranch name signs are legal but the larger advertisements will not be ultimately.

The new beautification act will be implemented in stages, with the first stage in progress currently.

This initial stage requires the owner of an outdoor advertisement to obtain a state license and post a bond. The license fee is $25 and the license is valid for an indefinite period.

Top vehicle condition cited as vital in foul weather

With winter well under way in the area and the streets and highways often becoming glassy ribbons defying even the best of drivers, The News asked Eural Ramsey, director of West Texas State University's driver training program, how best to cope with winter driving conditions.

After citing the first snow and ice of the season as the most destructive in the way of auto mishaps, Ramsey said getting the vehicle in top condition was the most important physical aspect of safe driving.

According to the instructor, things to be checked and gotten into proper working order were the tires, brakes, windshield wipers, lights, defroster and exhaust system.

The exhaust system is vitally important, said Ramsey, because any malfunction on its part could cause death by asphyxiation, especially if the motorist becomes stranded and leaves the engine running for any length of time.

Proper planning, including getting off to an early start, is equally important to bad weather driving, said Ramsey. By leaving early, the motorist will not find it necessary to rush at speeds too fast for roadway conditions.

Before putting the car into motion, says Ramsey, it is imperative that all snow, ice or other obstructions be cleaned away from the window areas. "The outside rear-view mirror should also be cleaned off," he added.

Being able to see in all directions, plus maintaining a speed that allows constant control of the vehicle, adds up to "getting the big picture" of driving safety, said Ramsey.

"Speed control is the main fac-

Mrs. Lula Johnson credits the black bundle in her arms with saving her life recently. Blackie, who she says awakened her to a gas-filled house, is a poodle puppy, a breed Mrs. Johnson didn't really want. She wouldn't trade Blackie now.

Dog she didn't want now saves her life

Mrs. Lula Johnson of 1219 4th Avenue really wanted a Chihuajua when a friend gave her a little black poodle several months ago.

Now, Mrs. Johnson's glad she accepted the gift.

Mrs. Johnson had been to an afternoon party one day recently and when she returned home, she decided to lie down on the floor in front of her small open-gas heater to rest before tackling household chores.

The temperature outside was cold and the gas heater spewed warmth as Mrs. Johnson settled on the floor.

Twenty minutes later, Mrs. Johnson was awakened by the angry barking and nipping of the ebony poodle named Blackie.

"He woke me up and the room was full of gas," Mrs. Johnson said. "If he hadn't done that I'm sure I wouldn't have awakened."

Mrs. Johnson credits Blackie with saving her life.

"He was barking and biting at me," she said. "Now he won't even let me sleep on the floor. If I lie down he'll pester me until I get up." She said when she awoke she found that only about two inches of flame was burning in the two-foot long gas stove. The rest of the gas jets were spewing the deadly gas throughout her home.

"I didn't think I even wanted a poodle," she said, "I thought I wanted a Chihuajua. But, now I wouldn't trade him for a dozen Chihuajuas."

Our World

Americans Should Give Thanks For Freedom

By ANN BROWN

Americans, as a whole, are a generous people. At this season of the year it might be profitable to pause and ask ourselves if we are as generous in thanking God for the gifts He has showered upon us as we are in sharing those gifts with others.

What impresses visitors from Europe and Asia is not our bountiful material blessings; it is our freedom. Refugees from behind the iron curtain say no more than 6 people may gather there without a permit.

They must get permission to go from one town to another. Permits usually take months — sometimes years — to procure.

No business can be transacted without government sanction.

Many of us have questioned why nations that exported food when they were free, must import it or starve under communism.

Princess Catherine Caradja said that in her native Romania, all landlords and business owners were deposed along with royalty. They either fled, were slain, imprisoned, or turned out without ration cards. Tenants then took over the land, and employees the business firms.

But the tenants, who produced bountiful crops for their landlords, are not allowed to plant one seed without government orders.

Princess Catherine asked local farmers what kind of crops they thought they could produce if they had to wait for a directive from Washington — or Austin — before they could plant, water, cultivate, or harvest.

It is one of life's mysteries that idealists continue to think of Utopia as a commune. Yet the only "commune" that has ever been successful is the family. And socialist policies increasingly contribute to the disintegration of the family.

The Puritans who came over on the Mayflower in 1620 and established the little commune at Plymouth probably did so in Christian sincerity. Yet Gov. Bradford reported in his History of Plymouth Plantation that he was forced to choose between extinction and free enterprise for the colony. Food became so scarce, rations were cut to 5 grains of corn a day for each person.

The single men in the Plymouth Colony resented having to provide food and firewood for the wives and children of other men. And the wives resented having to cook and wash for the single men.

Communal living fails because it is contrary to human nature. Work that is a joy to do for one's own family, or for a friend or neighbor in need, becomes slave labor when one is forced to render the same service to thankless strangers.

The next fall after each man was assigned a plot of ground, where he could work or starve, and cut his own firewood or freeze, Gov. Bradford reported larders bulging and woodpiles high.

The grateful Pilgrims gathered for their first Thanksgiving Day in their "meeting house" from 9 to 12 to give thanks to God. Their gratitude, however, was not limited to thanks for food, fuel, and shelter. The blessing they were most grateful for was their freedom.

Gov. Bradford added that when each man was free to go his own way and carve out his own destiny, the strife and bickering ceased, and the spirit of loving fellowship and mutual concern that had inspired the organization of the colony returned.

How have the Russians survived almost 56 years without reverting to free enterprise? Two ways: They have gobbled up their weaker neighbors, and absorbed their wealth; and they have obtained huge "loans" from free Americans.

Princess Catherine has been traversing America for 17 years asking her beloved adopted Country a most pertinent question: "If we lose our freedom — and with it our productivity — who will help us?"

While we thank God for our many blessings this holiday season, may we not forget the one from which all others flow — our freedom.

Another Look At New Ed. Program

By CARROLL WILSON

I'm always a little skeptical when I hear a bunch of college professors complaining that their academic freedom is being tampered with.

Not to say college professors are alarmists, but sometimes they, like other people, tend to get upset over nothing.

In perhaps their most vociferous effort in recent years, some 20 WTSU professors rallied last week to defend their academic freedom from a legislated program called competency- (or performance) based teacher education.

The happenings of the meeting during which the professors heard Dr. Emmitt Smith, an advocate of the program, explain the history and functioning of competency-based teacher education, were reported in the Thursday News.

After hearing Dr. Smith's presentation, and reading a letter about the program from the Texas commissioner of education, and a short brochure on the subject, I'm not so sure the WTSU professors, who during last week's meeting proclaimed the program a possible infringement on academic freedom, are crying wolf.

Several things make me suspicious of the new competency-based teacher education program besides its mechanical functioning, of which I am definitely suspicious.

For one thing, few lay people or even college professors outside the College of Education, ever remember hearing that the competency-based teacher education system was being proposed for implementation through the Texas Legislature last spring.

In fact, I can't find anybody — again outside the College of Education — who even knew the program was coming to reality this year.

This makes me wonder about the opportunity given by proponents of the teacher education program for free and open discussion of the program before the program was presented the legislature and even while it was being passed through various committees.

In other words, the public had very little, if any, knowledge of what its elected officials were doing to the university education system with passage of the legislation.

Sounds a little clandestine.

Another thing which adds to my suspicion is the current status of teacher education in many universities in the state and in the country.

It is seemingly a fact that today's market is glutted with teachers.

It is only logical to assume that if the market is glutted, students will probably decide to specialize in some field other than education in college. Enrollment in Colleges of Education will therefore decline. State funding, which is made contingent on enrollment, will therefore decline. Professors in education will have to look for other jobs, and ultimately their professional stature will decline.

How could you better insure a prominent position in a university system, than to pass a law which virtually assures you of power and prestige, two items the professional university educator will certainly have under the proposed competency-based program.

For at least two decades, the U.S. Army (and probably the other services) has been using many of the concepts of the competency-based teacher education system in their formal military training for officers and enlisted men.

I witnessed the Army's system of education first-hand for two years at the U.S. Army Adjutant General School at Fort Harrison, Ind., and I almost became a part of it during my last six months in the Army.

The Army system, like the system in competency-based teacher education, says that each course must have a stated set of objectives, goals and procedures.

The Army system, like the competency-based teacher education system, tends to substitute showmanship for methodology, and scholarly knowledge.

The tenet in the Army, and I've heard it stated, is that anybody can teach anything.

To become a teacher at the U.S. Army Adjutant General School, for example, all you have to have is a set of orders assigning you to the school, a passing grade out of a two-week charm school (where they teach you how to teach) and a thick course outline.

Army instruction is, however, task-oriented, teaching the how-to more than the general philisophical aspects of a situation.

Competency-based teacher education has all the earmarks of just such a task-oriented system, where emphasis is given the task to be accomplished, how it is to be accomplished and how you determine whether it was accomplished well.

Now, much of college education is not task-oriented. It is mind-oriented or aimed at stimulating thought, which could in turn lead to task accomplishment.

The system fits well in the Army, where it seems possible for anybody to teach anything.

It is highly doubtful to me that the same system could be accommodated to college, with its emphasis on teaching intangibles.

I'm deeply concerned at the most recent cry of "academic freedom infringement" from WTSU professors, and I believe their complaint has more than enough justification to warrant action to ensure that what the peoples' representatives gave us is what we want.

Kudos to City Manager George Loudder, who has written the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, to obtain a legal opinion concerning the charges levelled by city employee Mrs. Marguerite Strain.

Mrs. Strain had filed a complaint with the EEOC downstate charging that the Texas Municipal Retirement System, which operates for City of Canyon employees, discriminates against women in the manner in which it dishes out retirement funds.

Loudder's action is appropriate and I hope whatever answer he receives from the federal office will be acted on swiftly and with Mrs. Strain's welfare in mind.

It's More Than A Judgement

When persons come before County Judge Woody Pond facing charges of driving while intoxicated or other violations involving alcoholic beverages, they may get more than a fine, a jail term or probation.

The judge is now handing out copies of a typewritten sheet called "For an alcoholic to consider."

Written by an anonymous author, the paper contains a long list of suggestions for alcoholics and ultimately points them toward Alcoholics Anonymous.

The judge says he asks all persons convicted of driving while intoxicated or similar charges whether they think they have a drinking problem.

"They always say they don't," he said. "And, I say 'you do, or you wouldn't be here.'

"I tell them to keep it and it won't hurt them to read it some time. It might save their lives or somebody else's. If it helps one man it'll be worth the effort."

County To Eye Tax Computer

Discussion on the possible expansion of computer use in the Randall County tax office is expected Monday afternoon.

County commissioners are expected to meet with Durwood Henderson, computer center director at West Texas State University, and Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, during their regular 1 p.m. meeting.

Mrs. Bruse had earlier requested that more of the functions in her office be computerized to ease operations and to avoid the addition of more personnel in the future.

Currently, only small parts of the tax office operations are computerized.

Commissioners are also expected to discuss insurance for elected officials and county employees, and cooperation between Randall and Potter counties for a veterans service officer.

Sifting With Sands

The Bigger They Are, The Harder They Fall

By JIM SANDS

Somewhere along the line, I've heard a saying claiming that "What you don't know won't hurt you." And down through the years, there have been many instances of people doing things they were not able to do, simply because they did not know they couldn't.

Fellows like Edison, Bell, Pasteur and the Wright Brothers, and groups like the Mets and Jets, have all done "impossible" things, apparently because they were too stubborn to know, like everyone else, that they were beating their heads against the proverbial brick wall.

This year in Canyon, a similar "impossible" situation presented itself to a Kids Inc., football team, not once, but twice.

The Cyclones, 11- and 12-year-olds coached by Herb Hall, were made up of two 12-year-olds with the remainder of the team being age 11.

During the early part of the season, the sixth graders were pitted against a Hamlet, junior high age team from Amarillo made up of 12- and 13-year olds.

The little scrappers on that occasion left the field at the end of the game with a 0-0 tie.

In their next to last game of the season, they took the home field to do battle with the Mann team from Amarillo and after the hardfought 14-0 loss they jammed together to give the traditional cheer for the opposing team.

It was then, after cheers for Mann, that the opposing coach approached coach Hall to tell him that he had been playing Bowie, a junior high team substituted at the last minute when Mann was unable to play.

In neither outing against the bigger, stronger and more experienced teams did the Cyclones know that they were up against a foe destined to blow them right off the playing field.

But like they say, "What you don't know won't hurt you."

"Lord grant me a team strong enough to overcome not only the opposition...but also the officials," was the prayer of a coach I once knew.

Maybe the reason "The Great Pumpkin" hasn't showed up lately is because it keeps getting tangled up in Christmas tree lights, observes one "let's wait 'til December for Christmas" buff.

Letter To The Editor

A Review of School Prayers

Dear Troy:

I noticed the comment in your newspaper (Sunday edition, October 29, 1972) to the effect that ". . . we should remember it was Mrs. O'Hair who pressured the court into outlawing prayer and Bible reading in public schools." This kind of comment has appeared in your paper several times and I had finally begun to wonder if prayer and Bible reading were actually outlawed in public schools.

I corresponded with Mr. L. A. Covington, Assistant Clerk, The Supreme Court of the United States, Washington, D.C., in regard to this matter. In a letter I received from him on November 9, 1972, Mr. Covington commented that the Court and its Justices do not answer questions regarding opinions or comment on opinions after they (the opinions) have been decided by the Court. He did refer me to the United States Reports and to the following citations:

Engel v. Vitale
N. 468, October Term, 1961
Vol. 370 U.S., page 421

School District of Abington Township, Pa. v. Schempp
Nos. 142 & 119, October Term, 1962
Vol. 374 U.S., page 203

These citations are available in the Documents Section of the library at West Texas State University. They are fascinating reading and tend to make the statement quoted in the first paragraph of this letter appear naive and misleading. I hope your readers who are interested in this "prayer and Bible" issue will have an opportunity to examine the scholarly citations mentioned above. Perhaps some of your staff might even like to do some additional research.

I have enjoyed using some of your public records in some of my own research activity. Turn about is fair play.

Sincerely,

Services Held For Resident

Mrs. Nina Marie Gray, 44, died Wednesday in an Abilene Hospital.

Formerly of Canyon, she had been an Abilene resident almost two years.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Calvary Baptist Church in Canyon with the Rev. Jack Boyett, former paster, and the Rev. Bill Foil, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery by LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Pallbearers included Alvin Loven, Billy Seales, Ronnie Hawthorne, Lloyd Gordon, O. C. Free and Ray Bible.

Mrs. Gray was a native of Mangum, Okla. She was married June 4, 1952 to Hildred Gray. She had been a member of the Calvary Baptist Church here.

Survivors include her husband of 1609 2nd Avenue in Canyon; sons, Charlie and Jerry Don, both of the home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pruitt of 1902 5th Ave.; a sister, Mrs. Bill Adcock of Fort Smith, Ark.; and a half-brother, Boe Hollis of Canyon.

Troy Martin, publisher of The News, accepted responsibility of handling the mail for Claus.

In fact, he said, some letters have already arrived and have been forwarded for Claus's use.

Martin said letters should be mailed to the following address for fast service to the Arctic regions:

Santa Claus
c/o The Canyon News
Box 779
Canyon, Texas 79015

The News publisher said that again this year the newspaper will print the letters to Santa Claus in editions prior to Christmas.

Jerry Christian and Reginald Ramey. Christian is the only returning regular off last year's Buffalo squad returning. Lake was a letterman, as was Rodriguez. Jordan is a junior college transfer and Ramey is a freshman.

The Buffalo junior varsity team opens its home season Saturday against the Panhandle State junior varsity. The young Buffaloes play at 5:15 p.m. in the Civic Center, just prior to the varsity clash.

Probable starters for the JV team are Larry Jarzombek, Bryan Kendrick, Mark Wible, Mark Nixon and Bobby Anderson. Jarzombek is the only sophomore starting. The remainder of the starters are freshmen.

The concept also involves the idea that prospective teachers should be taught by professionals throughout the university who have clearly defined goals and course objectives.

To ensure all professors teaching prospective teachers have these clearly defined goals and objectives, Dr. Smith said, an executive board at the regional education center has the power to require professors — in the college of education as well as the Arts and Sciences — to submit course objectives and goals for approval before they can be taught.

This concept received the most fire from AAUP meeting attendees last week. They charged this concept allows an outside group to set the standards of teaching within the university. One professor called the concept "censorship."

the call to the school, Stewart said.

Chief Stewart said the leaflets, possibly as many as 100, had been handwritten by at least three people.

The leaflets called for students to walk out of classes at the beginning of the second period Tuesday in support of doing away with the school's dress and hair code.

Some of the notes instructed students take lunches and to not eat in the cafeteria.

The walkout time passed with no students leaving their classes, school officials said.

Principal Sommer told The News that the planned boycott failed due to disinterest by students. "They showed surprise and disgust when they learned that such a move was being planned," he added.

According to school policy, students taking part in any activity intended to disrupt classes are subject to dismissal. This also includes the passing out of leaflets or brochures on school property unless authorized by the school, Sommer said. He added that no such permission was requested or granted Monday.

The charge against Mrs. Bergstresser is under state law that prohibits persons from making any report, verbally, in writing or by telephone or other mechanical means, that causes emergency equipment to respond when no emergency exists.

The same law covers the turning in of false alarms to fire departments, Chief Stewart said.

Plans were begun this week for a Mothers' March on Jan. 25 for funds for the National Foundation — March of Dimes by Mrs. Bob Hand, Mothers' March chairman, Mrs. Jack Sebastian, Golden Spread Chapter Executive, and Don Vars, campaign director.

Vars Heads Campaign For Dimes

The Mothers' March for funds to prevent birth defects has been set for Thursday, January 25, in Canyon, to be directed by Don Vars, campaign director, and Mrs. Bob Hand, Mothers' March chairman.

The announcement was made this week by Mrs. Jack Sebastian of Amarillo, chapter executive of the Golden Spread Chapter of the National Foundation — March of Dimes. The voluntary organization, which formerly focused on combatting infantile paralysis, is now the largest source of private support for research and services aimed at preventing birth defects.

A Mother's March meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank of Canyon. A film will be shown on the work of the MOD, and new medical breakthroughs to aid in the prevention of birth defects will be discussed. All interested individuals are urged to attend.

A number of Canyon women's clubs, including Heritage Study Club, Canyon Study Club, and Canyon Dames, as well as interested individuals have expressed their support of the Mothers' March, according to Mrs. Sebastian.

Snow Holds Back Harvest

For the third time in this young winter season, snow dropped in on Randall County, further delaying the already behind grain crop.

Except for holding up harvesting, the at-least-one-inch snowfall caused little in the way of problems or discomfort.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two minor accidents in the county, one north of Canyon and one to the west. On this most recent visit by snow, the highways did not become icy ribbons and there were no major tieups of traffic.

According to agriculture leaders, at least 25 per cent of this year's grain crop is still in the field. Harvesting will resume as soon as the boggy fields dry up enough to allow invasion by machinery.

Snowfall in the county for the month of November has reached about five inches. The snows have contained a high amount of moisture and the Friday melt-off in Canyon left just under one-third of an inch, weather bureau spokesmen said.

The U.S. Weather Bureau Service in Amarillo today should be fair and warmer with the high going to near 50 degrees.

No snow, rain or other moisture is forecast through mid-week, a weather bureau spokesman said Saturday.

C.O. Edwards Services Held

Funeral services for a former Canyon resident were held in Ralls at 2 p.m. Saturday.

C.O. Edwards, 76, died Thursday afternoon of an apparent heart attack. He had moved to Ralls from Canyon in 1928.

Engaged in farming and ranching, Mr. Edwards was the father of J.A. Edwards of Canyon.

Other survivors include his wife, Ora Lee, another son, three sisters and three grandchildren.

Services Held For Long-time Umbarger Man

Alphonse Conrad Evers, 57, of Umbarger, died at 1 p.m. Thursday at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Rosary was held Friday night at LaGrone Funeral Chapel. Requiem mass was read Saturday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger with the Rt. Rev. Matthew Shafle, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery at Umbarger.

Pallbearers included Bernard F. Zimmer, Floyd Bichsel, Herman Hollenstein, Vincent Friemel, E. A. Stocker and Raymond Batenhorst.

Mr. Evers had been an Umbarger resident 55 years. He was born in Mita, Mo.

He married the former Anna Hess on Aug. 25, 1937, at Umbarger.

He had been a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Knights of Columbus.

Survivors include his wife of the home; his mother, Mrs. Rose Evers of Umbarger; sons, Allen of Hereford, Charles of Amarillo, and Edward, Weldon and Donnie of the home; daughters, Mrs. Patsy Huseman of Nazareth, Miss Carolyn Evers of the home and Miss Shirley Evers of Amarillo; sisters, Mrs. Robert Halter of Graham, Mrs. Earl Fisher of Muenster and Mrs. Melvin Fenoglio of Azle; and 12 grandchildren.

period, the Tigers struck again, this time capitalizing on an interception of a Mark Hargrave-thrown pass.

Romping 38 yards in seven plays, Groom tallied again on a four yard run up the middle by Stan Britten, Tim's cousin.

Another West pass, this time to Arthur Brown, made it 16-7 with 6:27 showing in the half.

The Cowboys took over and began their first really forceful drive toward the goal line, punching out four and five yards per carry as they headed downfield.

After driving to the 16 yard line from their own 40 in 18 plays, Happy lost the ball on a fumble and Groom took over to run out the first half clock.

Shortly after the second half opened, the Cowboys began their second sustained drive, this one beginning at the Cowboy 11. They drove 13 plays only to be stopped on the Groom 27 when Hargrave fumbled the ball.

Groom took over on their own 28 and blazed downfield with Randy Garmon going over for another Tiger touchdown. Extra point try was no good and the Tigers led 22-7 with 39 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

The ball exchanged hands several times before Groom came into possession again with 6 minutes left in the game.

Forcing Happy to punt, the Tigers took over on the Cowboy 46 yard line. A quick run by Garmon put the ball at the 34. Then a West pass to Garmon for 34 yards cinched the game. Extra point try was no good and Groom led 28-7.

Happy never threatened after that, with one drive stalled by a fumble and another by an intercepted pass.

The Tigers tallied 366 total yards in their win, with 332 of them coming on the ground. Leading ground gainer was Tim Britten with 160 yards followed by Garmon with 81.

West only passed four times, completing just one for 34 yards.

Happy made just 199 total yards with 100 on the ground and 24 in the air. Seventy-five came on the opening kick-off return.

Hargrave attempted eight passes, completing two and having two intercepted.

Leading ground gainer for Happy was Pearson with 48 yards followed by Hargrave with 28.

Groom totalled 19 first downs compared to Happy's 10.

Hints. . .

tor and can prevent an awful lot of accidents," said the driving instructor. He commented that "the big picture" also included driving courtesy.

Distractions, such as loud and rambunctious children or a loud radio, should be kept to a minimum when driving in any weather, said Ramsey. This is doubly true in hazardous times, he added.

Getting underway, not always an easy task, is best accomplished by trying to move the vehicle as slowly as possible without making the tires spin. According to Ramsey, this slow takeoff does two things, it retains traction and prevents side skids.

When asked about the advisability of lowering pressure in the tires for greater traction, Ramsey said this has been definitely proven to be of no value. The low pressure idea only causes wear and tear on the tires, Ramsey said. "Tire pressure should be kept even."

Ramsey advised all motorists to travel with a small shovel, chains and flares as insurance against getting stranded.

Should the car become mired in deep snow, said Ramsey, the wheels should be lined up straight and a back and forth rocking motion used in working free.

If the car is hopelessly stuck and the motor is left running, a window should be opened enough to provide proper ventilation, Ramsey said. This is true even if the exhaust system has been checked and found to be in a safe condition.

Ramsey also advised using all forms of restraint such as seat belts and harnesses to protect against whiplash and neck injuries. "Rear-end collisions are common during bad weather," he said.

Concentration and driving as though the worst possible was about to happen is a good way of summing up the safest way to cope with winter driving, Ramsey said. He cited instances where wet or icy spots suddenly present themselves on otherwise dry roadways. Water dripping from overhanging trees or overpasses is always a hazard, he said.

Ice covered overpasses also pose a problem on otherwise safe highways, says Ramsey, unless the driver is "getting the big picture" and is on the lookout for such hazards.

Again referring to speed, Ramsey said the rate of travel should always be kept at the safest speed for the overall conditions, not for the best spots in the route.

Summing up bad weather driving, Ramsey said safety depended on "the mechanical condition of the car . . . and the mental condition of the driver."

The license application must be accompanied by a bond for $2500 for each county in which signs are located or a maximum bond of $10,000 for owners with signs in more than three counties.

After obtaining a license, Smith said, the owner is required to obtain a separate permit for each existing and new off-premises sign on the affected highways.

With each sign permit required, the owner should submit an application accompanied by a check or money order for $5 to the Highway department district office for the county in which the sign is located.

If the permit application is for an existing sign, the highway department will check to see if the sign conforms to standards set by the beautification act, Smith said.

Permits now will be issued for signs in place prior to June 29 even if they do not conform to the law. They will be permitted to stay in place until programmed for acquisition or removal.

Permits for new signs will not be issued unless they do conform to the law, he said.

In connection with implementation of the act, the highway department has begun removal of abandoned or illegal signs on highways.

Taxes. . .

$111,573.

Total tax roll handled by the county office, then, is $900,049.

Of that total, $675,304 had been collected during October.

Mrs. Bruse said the county's big rush for tax collection is always October, but she said that October 1972 was unusual because county tax office employees weren't swamped all at once with paid taxes. Rather, the payments came in in an even flow throughout the month.

The county, like the school district, offers a 3 per cent discount in October, a 2 per cent discount in November and a 1 per cent discount in December.

The school district will mail out second notices to taxpayers who haven't paid in early January.

Deadline for paying all taxes in the county, school district and city is Feb. 1, 1973.

Second notices will be sent county residents who owe taxes in the spring, just before a late charge is slapped on their taxes.

Kuykendall said the school district usually collects above 95 per cent of the taxes due in any one year. Mrs. Bruse said the county percentage is about 96 per cent.

Mrs. Sheffy Dies Overseas

Canyon relatives of Mrs. Carrie V. Sheffy, long-time Canyon resident, received word Friday of her death earlier that day in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic.

Mrs. Sheffy, wife of the late Dr. L. F. Sheffy, who for many years was head of the history department at West Texas State University, had lived in Santo Domingo with a niece since August 1971. Her husband preceded her in death on Thanksgiving Day 1967.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sheffy are pending with Lemmon Funeral Home in Plainview.

Mrs. Sheffy was born March 22, 1890 in Clarendon. She lived several years in Plainview and she and her husband moved to Canyon in 1917.

Together, they were charter members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and participated in church activities at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Sheffy was choir director of the church.

Among her activities in Canyon, she was sponsor of Delta Zeta Chi sorority for a number of years.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. H. Dillehay of Bonham, and a number of nieces and nephews.

"Roof Leaking"?

Stop all leaks. Preserve and extend the life of any roof that is old. Save the cost of replacing the roof. T.M. White and M.A. Black have been developed especially for flat roofs of tar and paper, composition and cedar shingles.
Heavy bodied T.M. White is applied in two coats by brush or spray. Cost $6.00 per gallon. Covers 100 sq. ft. per gallon with two coats. Easily brushed.
Best job is to prime any roof with M.A. Black. Not a tar. Penetrates old felt or shingles to be very water repellent. M.A. Black costs only $3.50 per gallon; less in 5's. Covers 100 ft. per gallon.
Anyone can apply. The white roof is attractive and reflects heat in summer months to reduce air conditioning costs. Call or come and see these and other Lifetime Coatings for metal buildings. Our 22nd year.

Committee Unearthed At WTSU

The existence of a new committee on the faculty council at West Texas State University, a committee on equal employment opportunity grievances, surfaced last week.

But, officials at WTSU don't have much to say about it.

Notice of appointments to the committee was made in the Faculty Bulletin, an almost daily intra-university publication, last week.

The committee was apparently formed last spring or summer, but its existence is not noted in the current Faculty Handbook.

Dr. Ray Malzahn, academic vice president at WTSU, said he believes the committee has been empowered to hold hearings and make recommendations.

He said, however, he couldn't remember exactly the purpose or responsibilities of the committee.

He said it was formed "because it seemed like a good idea."

Allene Stovall, recently appointed to the committee chairmanship, said the committee has not heard an employment grievance yet.

WTSU came under attack for its employment practices last winter when Dr. Paula Latimer, now president of the Texas Women's Equity Action League, filed a letter of complaint with the Dallas civil rights office.

The letter charged that the university discriminates against women in its hiring and promotion practices.

Last summer, a team from the civil rights office spent several days on the Canyon campus, primarily as a result of Dr. Latimer's complaints.

They confirmed her charge that WTSU discriminates against women and instructed the university to take several steps to alleviate the problem.

News Brief

Two dairy cows owned by Raymond Hinders of Happy have received Gold Medal dam status from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The recognition is based on the animal's outstanding milk production and desirable body conformation.

5th Army Gen. To Visit Here

A deputy commanding general from 5th U.S. Army headquartered at San Antonio will be in Canyon Wednesday viewing facilities of the West Texas State University ROTC detachment.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Franklin, one of whose responsibilities is reserve affairs in the 5th Army area, will arrive in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon.

He will be honored with a small reception Tuesday evening, to which university officials and ranking area reservists have been invited.

Wednesday morning, the general will return to Canyon about 8:30 a.m. and will be briefed on the WTSU ROTC operation. He will also sit in on ROTC classes and confer with university president Dr. James P. Cornette and other WTSU officials during the morning stay.

He is expected to leave Canyon by helicopter before noon for a similar visit at Panhandle State College in Oklahoma.

An ROTC spokesman said General Franklin's visit is part of a new Army program of general officer visitation to area campuses.

News Brief

Ricky Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Jones of 1102 8th St., enjoyed the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents here. Young Jones is a freshman civil engineering student at Texas A&M. The Jones' daughter, Ellen, a sophomore chemical engineering student at A&M, spent the holidays visiting an uncle in Corpus Christi. Ricky leaves today to return to College Station.

'Flea' Tables Going Fast

Only a few tables remain to be sold for the Rotary Club Flea Market, which is scheduled all day Saturday at the junior livestock building here.

Conway Kuykendall, flea market chairman, said almost 20 tables have been sold in the building for use by local flea marketeers to display and sell their wares.

Kuykendall announced Friday that door prizes will be given away four times during the day Saturday to market-goers by the Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the activity to raise money for local projects.

He noted that the market now includes persons selling almost everything imaginable. Local clubs as well as individuals have already purchased tables for everything from fresh mistletoe to hand-blown glass.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS
Watch, Clock & Jewelry Repair
"20 Years Experience Specializing in High Grade Watches and Clocks."
LOUIS ROMERO
2308 4th Ave. Canyon
Bus. 655-9931
Res. 376-9004

Business Review

Thanksgiving is behind us and Christmas is just around the corner.

The time has arrived for you to begin thinking seriously about Christmas gifts for those special people on your list.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS offers a fine selection of quality watches, clocks and jewelry that may be just right for those special people.

"We carry the best and if we do not have an item in stock a customer wants, we can usually get it," says Romero.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is located at 2308 4th Avenue between the Buffalo Bookstore and the Brass Carriage. Erskines Jewelry previously occupied this location.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is also the place to go when you need a wrist watch, clock or piece of quality jewelry repaired.

Twenty years experience repairing high grade watches, clocks, and jewelry qualifies Romero as an expert—and who wants less when such delicate and expensive items are at stake?

Romero is always ready to help with individual problems too.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS also has a fine selection of WATCH BANDS that will be worth your time to come in and see.

"A watch band greatly increases the attractivness of your watch," says Romero, "and if your band is worn out a new one may prevent you from losing your watch," he adds.

ROMERO'S MASTER JEWELERS is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Now would be a good time to put a gift on layaway for christmas.

If you cannot make it to the store and have a particular question, you may reach him there at 655-9931 or at his residence at 376-9004.

Mrs. David Edwin Nickles, nee Melinda Susan Lauder

Lauder-Nickles Vows Exchanged

Miss Melinda Susan Lauder became the bride of David Edwin Nickles in a double ring ceremony taking place Friday evening at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo. The Rev. Evans Moreland officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Lauder of Amarillo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Nickles of Amarillo.

Selections of wedding music were played by Robert Goodnow, organist, of Amarillo.

An arrangement of bronze, gold and yellow mums was used with candles to decorate the altar.

Miss Rebecca Lynn Lauder was maid of honor, and Miss Debra Kaye Cothren, Miss Amy Elizabeth Lauder and Miss Lori Ann Lauder were bridesmaids. All, except Miss Cothren, were sisters of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of moss green velvet, trimmed in white lace and styled with long sleeves and stand-up collars. Each carried a bouquet of autumn colored flowers and wore sprigs of the same flowers in their hair, fastened with long green ribbons.

Larry W. Cothren was the best man. Groomsmen were David Gouldy, Alan Nickles, and Larry Holliday. The ushers were Rick Rupp, John Smithee, Dale Webb, Bob Mosley, and Andy Phillips, all of Amarillo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white bridal satin trimmed in old-fashioned lace, designed in Victorian style with high collar, long Juliet sleeves, and bodice with lace pinafore ruffles. Rows of lace accented the bodice and sleeves, and a triple row of lace ruffles edged the train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a satin coif, and she carried a cascade of white orchids with white and yellow roses and white baby mums.

After the ceremony, a reception followed in the fellowship rooms of the church. The bride's cake was topped with autumn flowers in shades of bronze, gold, and yellow, and a cross entwined with double wedding rings. Flowers also circled the base of both bride's and groom's cakes. The house party was made up of Mrs. Allen Nickles, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Howard Sithen, Mrs. Bill Taylor, Mrs. Leonard Warren, cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Cynthia Phillips, cousin, Miss Robin Hyse, Miss Teresa Hatcher, and Miss Susan Brady.

During the reception, Bob Goodnow entertained guests by playing piano selections, including "Without You," "Theme from Love Story," and other popular songs.

The bride was wearing a navy dress trimmed with bib of lace and braid with the same trim down the long sleeves and around each cuff when the newlyweds left on a wedding trip.

After November 27, the couple will be at home at 3318 S. Western, Apt. No. 231.

The bride attended Amarillo College for two years where she was a member of Sigma Phi Chi social sorority. She is now employed at Thomas Cartage, Inc., in Amarillo.

The bridegroom also attended Amarillo College for two years where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Delta social fraternity. He also attended the University of Texas at Austin and is presently a marketing major at West Texas State University. He is employed as retail manager of Bucks Sporting Goods in Amarillo.

Student Chamber Music Scheduled Wednesday At WT

Works by Mozart, Schumann, and Vivaldi are scheduled for performance in a student chamber music program Wednesday at West Texas State University.

Performance time is 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The program is free.

Directing the program are David Ritter, assistant professor of music, George Eason, assistant professor of music, and Alan Hawkins, instructor in music.

The program is as follows:

Ibert's "Three Movements for Oboe, Clarinet and Bassoon," featuring Borger sophomore Donna Bogan, oboe, Snyder senior Judy Voelkel, clarinet, and San Angelo freshman Kathy Lynn, bassoon.

Vivaldi's "Sonata in g minor," featuring Lubbock senior Karen Newton, violin, Lubbock junior James Caddell, violin, Amarillo senior Janette Bruza, cello, and Amarillo senior David Boothe, harpsichord.

Mozart's "Symphone Concertante," featuring Miss Bogan, El Paso senior Tim Wine, clarinet, El Paso freshman William Levy, horn, Edinburg senior David Smith, bassoon, and Natick, Mass., graduate student Su Chung Wang, piano.

Mozart's minuet movement from "Trio K. 442," featuring El Paso sophomore Gregory Shaffer, violin, Grand Island, Neb., junior Linda Wise, cello, and Amarillo junior Lilly Koesjan, piano.

Milhaud's "La Chiminee du roi rune," featuring Canyon sophomore Jim Edwards, flute, Miss Bogan, oboe, Wine, clarinet, Canyon senior Carol Wood, horn, and Smith, bassoon.

Shumann's "Trio, Opus 110," featuring Caddell, violin, Canyon sophomore Mike Raillard, cello, and Amarillo sophomore Troy Ann Perkins, piano.

WTSU Dean Named Head Of Group

Dr. Donald Cates, dean of admissions and registrar at West Texas State University, is the new president of the Texas Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

Cates, 34, president-elect the past year, assumed the presidency at the state meeting last week. He has served as treasurer and a member of the executive committee since 1968.

The association is composed of more than 130 accredited junior and senior colleges and universities in Texas.

Cates said the purpose of the association is to "orient and provide professional training for new registrars and officers of admissions, and provide a medium by which the professional responsibility of registrars and admissions officers can be communicated as a group to other professional groups. The organization has maintained a legislative committee to communicate and inform higher education's needs to legislators."

Cates graduated in 1956 from San Angelo High School, where he previously taught history.

He received a bachelor's degree from Howard Payne College and Master of Education and Doctor of Education degrees from Texas Tech University.

Cates was director of undergraduate admissions and director of registration and records at Texas Tech before coming to West Texas State in 1967.

Area Attractions Given Notice In New Brochure

A simple, front-and-back sheet has been prepared by the staff at the musical-drama "TEXAS" to tell various periodicals and travel agents all the things there are to do in the Texas Panhandle.

Entitled "Glimpses of the Texas Panhandle. . ." the sheet will be used to reply to queries from various people about what there is to do in the Canyon and Amarillo area.

Listed on the sheet are Palo Duro Canyon State Park, the drama "TEXAS," Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, Amarillo and the area north of Amarillo. Package tours available in the area are also listed.

"This is the only place where area attractions are listed with prices and phone numbers for information and schedules," Mrs. Margaret Harper, publicity director for the show, said.

Featured on the sheet is a drawing of the famous lighthouse rock formation in Palo Duro Canyon by Ann Hardaway of Canyon.

Five thousand of the sheets were printed for distribution.

Janna Mills To Give Organ Recital

Miss Janna Mills, senior in the music department at West Texas State University, will perform an organ recital at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 8, in the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

A student of Miss Mary Ruth McCulley, Miss Mills has been the recipient of a music scholarship all four years at WTSU. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority.

Selections scheduled to be played are "Noel X (Grand Jeu et Duo) by Daquin; "Toccata, Adagio, and Fugue in C major," by Bach; "Dernier couplet du Gloria: Amen," by Couperin; "Le Sommeil de L'Enfant Jesus," by Russer; "Pastoral Dance on 'On Christmas Night,'" by Milford; "Allegro in D major," by Stanley; and "Prelude and Fugue in G minor," by Dupre. In the number by Russer she will be accompanied by Janette Bruza, cellist, and Mike Lacewell, pianist.

The public is invited to attend at no admission charge.

Biology Society Gives Scholarship To Borger Student

Cynthia Carlson of Borger is the recipient of a $100 scholarship awarded by the Delta Xi chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national biology society, at West Texas State University.

The award was announced at the organization's semi-annual initiation banquet Nov. 20.

Miss Carlson was given the grant on the basis of "scholarship, service to the biology department and work in the chapter" according to Charles E. Wright, associate professor of biology and chapter counselor.

A senior biology education major, Miss Carlson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin N. Carlson of (501 Estireno) Borger.

Fourteen students and one faculty member were initiated into the biology honor society at the banquet. Dr. Horace Bailey, professor and head of the department of biology, who is in his first year at WT, was admitted into the club.

Requirements for membership in Beta Beta Beta are a major or major emphasis in biology, completion of 45 semester hours, a 2.0 grade point average for four biology courses and a 1.5 overall average.

Fowlkes To Host Dinner For Foreign Students

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowlkes, northeast of Canyon, will be the setting for the next monthly dinner for foreign students and their friends in this area. The time has been set for 6:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 1.

As is customary, those attending will wear national costume, and bring a national dish.

Foreign students from Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Japan, Columbia, S. A., Equador, Peru, Pakistan, Taiwan, Philippines, Chile, Lebanon, and Latvia are expected to attend. Other interested foreigners as well as many Panhandle residents will add to the number.

Those who would like further information may contact Hsiangkuen Mao, president of the International Students Association at West Texas State University, at 655-3054.

Mrs. Mark L. Struhs, nee Cheryl Vines

Miss Vines, Struhs United In Marriage

Miss Cheryl Vines and Mark L. Struhs exchanged marriage vows Friday evening in a double-ring ceremony taking place in the home of her parents in Richardson, Texas. The Rev. Robert Oglesby officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Vines of Richardson.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Struhs of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

The candlelight ceremony was performed before an arch entwined with greenery, gardenias and roses.

Traditional wedding music, including "Liebestraum" by Schubert, was played by Bob Payne.

Miss Cyndee Vines and Miss Deborah Vines, sisters of the bride, attended as bridesmaids. Another sister, Brenda, was flower girl. They wore floor-length gowns with self-ruffled tops of beige crepe and floor-length skirts of brown velvet, accented with pink cumberbunds. They carried nosegays of pink roses.

Joe Beasley of Dallas was the best man, and Jerry Hopkins of Pampa was groomsman.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a formal bridal gown of ivory organza and antique French lace over ivory peau de soie designed in Victorian style high collar, long sleeves with wide ruffles at the wrist, and raised waistline. Rows of antique lace decorated the sleeves, bodice, collar and waist. Back fullness was added with a detachable train edged in wide, lace-trimmed flounce, and her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace coif. She carried a cascade of roses and gardenias, fastened with satin streamers.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Both the bride and groom are seniors attending West Texas State University. She is a member of Delta Zeta social sorority, and Struhs is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

"MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING" will open December 6 at the Oklahoma Theatre Center in Oklahoma City and run through December 23.

CHS Basketball In Full Swing

The Canyon High School basketball teams are beginning to get busy, with the girl Eagles playing Sunray last night, the boy Eagles going up against Tascosa Monday night, and both teams encountering Claude Tuesday night.

The girls, undefeated in five pre-season skirmishes, added another win to the string last week when they trounced Tahoka by a score of 103-37.

The sextet, along with their junior varsity sisters, were at home in the games against Sunray while the sophomore girls took on the Alamo High School varsity in earlier home action.

The results of those three games will appear in the Thursday edition of The News.

After taking a 57-41 drubbing from highly rated Hereford, the boy Eagles came back against the Palo Duro Dons by topping them 67-50. Following the win over the Dons, Coach B.B. Kendrick said he was pleased with the progress his team was making.

Monday night's action will be at Tascosa with both the varsity and junior varsity taking part. The sophomore boys are idle.

The defending state champion girls will join the boys on Tuesday night when Claude comes to town to do battle with both varsity and junior varsity teams. The sophomore boys and girls will travel to Nazareth that same night to play that school's varsity teams.

On Thursday, the boys varsity team will take part in the Brownfield tournament while the girls varsity travels to Sunray to play in a tourney there.

Also on Thursday, the boys JV team will enter a tournament being held in Borger. The girl JVs will be idle until Dec. 4 when Dimmitt visits Canyon for games with them, and the boy and girl varsities.

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

Elaine Maples shows Betty Cox of Amarillo some of her latest works. The art show will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday of this week.

Decorations To Be Up On Tuesday

Christmas decorations will go up in Canyon Tuesday, according to Chamber of Commerce manager Roland Black.

The decorations, purchased new last year, will spread Christmas spirit around the downtown square, down the length of 23rd Street and down 4th Avenue.

Erected will be 92 candy canes and 8 choir boys. The choir boys will go on light poles inside the downtown square.

In addition, two large "Merry Christmas" banners, which are illuminated, will be raised to span 23rd Street at its north and south ends.

Snow delayed putting up the decorations Friday, Black said.
